The chamber submitted Miss Heggie's list of qualifications for the honor to a team of out-of-town judges.

She was also commended for the untiring effort she puts forth each year to make the annual Dogwood and Azalea

FHA Director Sees RDA As Boon To Rural Areas

By RON PORTER

The Rural Development Act recently passed by Congress may help reverse the flow of people from rural areas to the cities.

This is the view and the hope of James V. Smith, national administrator of Farmer's Home Administration. Smith was in Sikeston Thursday en route to dedication ceremonies for the new waste disposal system in the Penermon community near Essex in Stoddard County.

Under the Rural Development Act, the FHA will be able to issue business loans to create more job opportunities in rural areas. The government will guarantee the loan.

Smith said his office is currently drawing up regulations on what type of loans to provide. The law, signed by President Richard Nixon on Aug. 30 is quite flexible, Smith said. This is because the kind of business loans needed in Maine are not the same kind needed in Southeast Missouri.

Other funds to be made available under the new law will include pollution control grants for farmers. It will allow them to bring their feedlots and other polluting areas into compliance with good environmental practices.

A new program that Smith said the FHA is beginning is a program of youth loans to minors whose parents are unable to help them pay for 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America projects. The program will teach the young people about credit and loans and hopefully establish them in rural areas.

Smith said people would like to live outside the cities if they could find good jobs. He said many industries would like to move, also. The FHA, he said, will try to put the two desires together and bring work back to the non-metropolitan areas.

Smith attended dedication of the new sewer system at Penermon and the District 3 rural water system in Eastern Butler County, and attended the opening of a senior citizens apartment project and community sewer system today in Birch Tree in Shannon County. All four projects were financed by loans from the FHA.

"Rural development is passing from the planning and promise state to the era of action," Smith said. "President Nixon's leadership and firm support have opened the way to match local initiative with development capital, which is now pouring into rural areas from centers of finance through insured loan channels of the Farmers Home Administration."

He said resources generated by his agency for rural housing, community improvement and family-farm agriculture have tripled since 1968, rising to a volume of more than $3 billion a year.

The FHA, Smith said, "is channeling more than $1 billion a year into the adequate financing of family farms, more than $2 billion a year into a great new enterprise of home improvement for rural families of modest means, and around $350 million a year into modernization of rural water, sewer and other community improvements."

Smith said "the biggest immediate business opportunity in rural county may be the wide-open chance to abolish bad housing and put families of lesser income into good, modern, well-equipped homes. Many towns are generating several million dollars worth of local trade activity by making the most of this opportunity in rural housing."

He added that the Bootheel counties of Stoddard, Butler, Dunklin, Mississippi, New Madrid, Pemiscot and Scott have more than 3,100 of the 20,000 homes in Missouri now under FHA financing, and 27 community water and sewer projects in the Bootheel have been developed with $4.5 million in FHA grants and loans.

Hearnes Signs Emergency Appropriation Bill Today

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes signed today an emergency appropriation bill carrying $11.6 million as passed in a 23-day special session last month.

The bill includes $6.8 million in general revenue or state tax funds and $4.8 million in federal and other funds.

The governor asked originally for $23.5 million but many of the items were rejected on the grounds they could be reconsidered when the 1973 legislature meets in January.

The governor vetoed one section on the grounds it sought to legislate in an appropriation bill. He said "This section amounts to extraneous matter having no force and effect."

The section said the legislature intended the appropriations to be for a full nine-month period and directed state agencies to spend the money on that basis.

It directed them to submit a nine-month plan of estimated expenditures and said no expenditure for any one month could exceed the estimate by more than 15 per cent without prior approval of the legislative committee on fiscal affairs.

It was the same language the governor vetoed in appropriation bills passed in the regular session last spring. Since then sponsors of the directive said, the constitutional amendment adopted at the August primary gave the legislature power to have control on how the money should be spent.

The item regarded by the legislators as the biggest single emergency — funding the new public defender law — got $638,000 in state money with the expectation that another $480,000 would come from federal funds. sponsors said that would be enough to get the program started.

Since then the Appleate Judicial Commission has started taking applications from lawyers who want to be public defenders in counties over 75,000, plus Cole and Randolph where penal institutions exist, but excluding Greene County.

The bill includes $1.2 million intended to increase state aid to junior colleges from $320 to $400 a year per student, $178,000 to put mental patients in boarding homes and $40,000 to set up a new regional Center for the Developmentally Disabled in St. Louis.

CHILDREN AND TELEVISION

Poor television. Condemned for distorted reporting and labeled a sinister tool of some establishment or other, the industry is now besieged by parents concerned about the impact of the electronic babysitter on their offspring. Broadcasting Yearbook notes that most children watch TV at least two hours a day; mothers and fathers want to know whether the kiddies are being helped, hurt or exploited by so much boob-tube viewing.

The most publicized complaint about children's programming has centered on violence. Studies on the subject have been anything but conclusive. Some claimed that televised violence has a cathartic effect; others concluded that it incited antisocial behavior. The findings of the Surgeon General's Scientific Advisory Committee on Television and Social Behavior were cautious and qualified. Issued last Jan. 17, the report stated that while there was no evidence television violence "has an adverse effect on the majority of children," it "may lead to increased aggressive behavior in certain subgroups of children."

In the last few years, violence on children's programs has been reduced, but by no means eliminated, due largely to pressure from groups of concerned parents. One of these groups -- Action for Children's Television (ACT), a suburban Boston organization formed in 1968 -- will hold its third National Symposium on Children and Television at Yale University beginning Sunday, Oct. 15. The three-day conference, attended by broadcasters, businessmen, parents, teachers and child development authorities, will explore the planning, production and financing of quality children's programming.

One of ACT's major complaints concerns the amount of time devoted to advertising on commercial TV programs aimed at children. Although "the networks have phased out the superheroes of ultraviolence or at least profitably palmed them off for syndication on some independent station," Christopher S. Wren observed in Saturday Review -- Education (October 1972), "... program content usually amounts to little more than mucilage for the commercials, which grind out at upwards of 20 to the hour." Nevertheless, Wren sees some improvement in children's fare and credits both parental pressure and public television successes like Sesame Street for the occasional ray of sunshine.

NEW YORK (AP) — Some people never seem to have any luck because other people seem to have all the luck.

There are, on the one hand, the losers, and on the other hand, the winners.

The losers usually have a hangdog air as they go through this world, the winners a topdog look.

There are other ways, of course, to tell them apart.

You can safely be reckoned a born winner if —

The reason you have so few friends is that, with your kind of luck, friends would only be a liability.

Cabs go out of the way to pick you up on a rainy day.

The church won't sell you any more lottery tickets, because you always win first prize. That's also why they only let you play bingo every other Wednesday night — so that on the nights you're not there someone else has a chance to win.

You hardly ever get a chance to call the White House because the White House is usually on the phone to you.

When you were growing up, your mother never, never called you "stupid."

Although he is now over 80 and no longer in the best of health, your father still gets to his feet and says "sir" when you enter the room. The old chap wouldn't hear of having it any other way.

In kindergarten, the only two pretty red-haired girls in the class fought each other in the cloakroom with their fists for the privilege of carrying your books home.

Later on in school, you were the kind of kid the teachers enjoyed bringing apples to.

And when you ate in the high school cafeteria, the waitress always put two more meatballs in your spaghetti than she did anyone else's.

When you buy a stock on the stock market, it invariably goes up; when you sell it, it invariably goes down.

When you go fishing, you have to strike out at the fish with a baseball bat to keep them from all leaping into your boat and surrendering en masse.

When you play golf with your boss, you let him win a hole now and then just so he'll have some inducement to go on living.

When your wife calls you "dum dum," she's only joking.

When you tell the laundry you don't want any starch in your shirts, your shirts come back without any starch in them.

Yes, sir, you're a born winner — and couldn't lose if you tried to.

POLITICAL SYRUP

Let someone suggest that expenditures for space exploration have been a good investment, and he is promptly shot down. However, the day of another story is coming. Dr. Wernher von Braun gives a late report in Parade magazine.

Back in 1969, thanks to satellite pictures, the U. S. National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration has estimated that the lives of 50,000 people were saved that would otherwise have been in the path of Hurricane Camille when it hit the Gulf Coast. Also, Dr. von Braun, who is associated administrator of NASA, advises that, "Today satellites carry about half the world's international telephone, telegraph and television load ... Or take computers. The demands of space flight pushed computer technology forward so fast that it is an $8- billion -a-year industry that employs more than 800,000 people. Thousands of new products and industrial processes have been introudced as the result of the space program."

The list of benefits from space exploration will continue to pour in -- notwithstanding the street corner skeptics who like the flavor of government projects best when they are covered with political syrup.

Basically, chains of various lengths drag on the ground and "float" paper, cans, bottles and other onto a paddle wheel of fabric- stiffened rubber that pitches the material into a storage bin. One man can operate the machine.

A LAST RESORT

During the past year or so rising costs have forced many electric companies to apply to regulatory commissions for rate increases. The tendency of those critics who rarely, if ever, have a kind word to say about a private electric company is to try to paint the increases as merely an attempt to increase profits.

The truth is that no company in the electric power field likes to ask for a rate increase. The record of many decades indicates this. Rates have steadily gone down, and even today, many companies have achieved near miracles in holding the line against inflation. An Iowa utility, for example, has applied for its first rate increase since 1953. For eighteen years, it has had a tradition of reducing electric rates, but rising costs have finally caught up with this company as they have with others. In announcing the propsoed step-up in rates, the company stated that, "During the period 1961 through 1967 ... (it) voluntarily reduced electric rates 13 times. With the increase, the average residential rate will be about the same as it was in 1953." Reversal of the downward trend in rates, explains this utility firm, has been brought about by the cost of environmental control equipment, rising labor costs, soaring taxes, high interest rates and the company's largest construction budget in history.

The action of the Iowa utility goes a long way toward answering those who oppose application of investor - owned power companies for rate increases. It shows that a request for a rate increase is the last resort for the average local power company.

NAMEING NAMES

In many news situations more will be printed than may have been customary in the recent past because the public is requiring greater incisiveness in what it reads and hears.

The self-cleaning efforts within the democratic system of freedom demand on informed public that is insisting on being better informed. Burdened with a multiplicity of laws beyond the capacity of police to enforce, the public is calling upon governmental agencies to make known the violators of regulations, orders, administrative rulings, on the theory that certain results can be achieved through the use of publicity.

New York City has begun to announce the names of restaurants and markets which violate the health codes. The New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets is naming those who fail to meet the state requirements as to marketing and meat inspection, milk sanitation and also is listing the establishments from which bad meat and food have been seized.

Sanitation requirements are drafted on behalf of consumers and the whole society. Many consumers and much of society determine their purchasing habits after learning who breaks the standards.

In periods of mistrust the truth has a way of getting out. This becomes the best guidance that citizens can possess, and they are increasingly insistent upon getting the names and places. The public is not powerless when it learns the truth. The same public today is relying upon their brand of power in asking the facts be printed so they can form their own opinions as to what is right and wrong and make their own decisions accordingly. — Huntington (W.Va.) A SINISTER THREAT

There are certain fundamental laws against fraud, misrepresentation and simple dishonesty. They have been on the books for a long time and have worked well. In addition, there are such organizations as the Better Business Bureaus that have done a yeoman's job of publicizing dishonesty and deception. But, above all is the automatic policing feature of the marketplace as customers give their patronage to the most dependable firms.

Despite these facts of life, there are those who constantly seek to improve upon the marketing mechanism by proposing laws which supposedly act as substitutes for the built-in wisdom of the free market. Many of these proposed laws fail utterly to distinguish between legitimate business and the blue sky operator. Typical of these proposals is a late measure introduced in Congress called the Truth in Trading Stamps Act. It is aimed at one of the oldest forms of business promotion, trading stamps--a form of promotion that U. S. Consumers have supported for many generations. A late survey shows that today 46.7 million American households save stamps--8 out of 10 families in the United States. These families, as well as the merchants, with whom they deal, have found trading stamps to be of mutual benefit. Otherwise, the stamps would have disappeared from the marketplace.

The public is already protected by laws prohibiting deceptive or fraudulent business practices. Trading stamps must keep their long-established reputation for being as good as gold for the redemption of goods as promised, or the public would quickly reject them. Just why trading stamps should be singled out for burdensome new federal regulation in view of such heavy public support is more than a little hard to explain. Redemption of trading stamps permits millions of people to acquire goods that they would not otherwise feel they could afford. Trading stamps are an important element of the promotion and advertising that underlies the free market system and, for that matter, freedom of the press itself. Without the support of promotion and advertising, there could be no independent press. The current phobia of excessive regulation is a far more sinister threat to our well-being thanthe alleged shortcomings of the marketplace.

A DEDICATED MAN PASSES

A giant- sized Texan who enriched our lives with his witty writings and conversations has passed. He was Wick Fowler, the Austin pundit who worked at various times as a newspaper reporter, editor, war correspondent and columnist. In his very active life, he also served an an investigator for the famous Dies committee in the 1930s when that Texas Congressman was rooting out subversives. Fowler designed and built sailboats, became a famous chili chef and served as Director of Public Information for the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Wick Fowler will be less remembered as a Texas highway patrol officer who rode a motorcycle but his job as an officer of the law left a lasting mark on him. Long after Wick retired from the motorcycle job and went on to fame in other fields, he remained true to the badge. He constantly preached against crime and the criminal and the latter years of his life he fretted that the lawman had lost the odds in his fight to protect the citizen. Wick lambasted the anarchists of the 1960s. He scorched them with his tongue and his pen. His words were as peppery as the chili he made.

There was another subject that turned him on; patriotism. As a war correspondnet he had covered the 36th Division's campaign in Italy in World War II and had gotten a purple heart for a wound he suffered. He could not be kept down, however, and got to the battleship Missouri to write the story of General Douglas MacArthur's accepting the surrender of the Japanese. Wick Fowler loved the flag and the badge and he loves life. The life he lives was varied and interesting. His death is a loss to Texas, indeed the nation. HLH

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON— At a recent narcotics conference, President Nixon declared dramatically that keeping narcotics out of the country is "just as important as keeping armed enemy forces from landing in the United States." The President then announced sternly that he would cut off aid to countries whose leaders "protect the activities of those who contribute to our drug problem."

Predictably, these bold words drew election- year headlines for the President and warm approval from a public alarmed over the drug danger. Yet classified documents in our possession show that the President has refused to cut off aid, despite evidence that certain foreign leaders are protecting the drug smugglers.

The smuggling operations in Laos, for example, illustrate the difference between what Nixon says in public and what his intelligence documents show in secret. To prop up the Souvanna Phouma government, he has poured in more than $200 million in military aid annually. Yet his reports from the CIA and other agencies give him every reason to cut off this aid.

Says one document: "A broad spectrum of Lao society is involved in the narcotics business, including generals, princes, high- level bureaucrats and province governors."

The CIA specifically advised that Laotian generals are providing the transportation for drug smugglers. Incredible as it sounds, the planes and trucks used to carry the U.S.- bound narcotics are provided by the U.S. military programs which Nixon has sworn to cut off.

The secret documents make clear that the President is putting his military policies in Asia ahead of the drug invasion. "The difficulties of undertaking such drastic action (as aid cut- offs) cannot be overemphasized," declares another document on Laos, "since ... the risk of jeopardizing some part of the ...ry effort is high."

In Cambodia, President Nixon also continues to bolster an unstable dictatorship with $240 million worth of U.S. aid a year. Yet Cambodia is an important transshipment point for dope. An intelligence document explains why Nixon, however, has no intention in Cambodia of carrying out his threat to cut off aid:

"If US aid were withdrawn, the government's ability to withstand Communist aggression would be weakened to the point of collapse."

—SAIGON SMUGGLERS--

In South Vietnam, as well, the documents attest to "the corruption among government civilian, military and police officials, some of whom have been actively participating in the narcotics traffic themselves ...." But again, there is no real thought of cutting off aid.

The secret documents bluntly give the reason: "It is not in US interests to implement an aid cut- off, even to punish Viet- Nam for failure to control drugs...."

President Nixon's double talk on drugs is nowhere more apparent than in Thailand which gets over $100 million in U.S. aid a year.

"We believe that major punitive measures (such as) withdrawal of aid, denial of Most Favored Nation status, etc... would probably undermine our cooperative relations with Thailand and jeopardize ongoing security activities...," says a U.S. intelligence document.

The President's threats could also be carried out in Iran, which the CIA fears may soon become a major supplier for U.S. drug traffickers. But the CIA reports:

"The Shah has spoken out on only a few occasions... against addiction (and) rumors persist that some members of the royal family and parliament are narcotics users. Swiss authorities recently charged an Iranian Prince who accompanied the Shah to Switzerland with having transferred pure opium to Geneva."

Throughout Latin America, the same look- the- other- way policy prevails.

President Nixon, for instance, praised Paraguay for extraditing a notorious French narcotics smuggler, Auguste Ricord, to face trail in the United States. What Nixon neglected to mention was that Ricord was relinquished only after we wrote a series of columns about Paraguay's government- backed drug smuggling and after Democratic congressmen began talking of cutting off aid to Paraguay themselves.

If the President really wants to do something about Paraguay, he has CIA reports that two Paraguayan generals and the chief of its secret police are abetting the drug traffic. However, insiders say there is no real move to end the $12- million- a- year aid to Paraguay.

In Panama, which gets $18 million annually in aid, the President has intelligence reports saying: "One of the more glaring examples of official corruption is the country of Panama....General Omar Torrijos and President Lakas appear to be controlling factors in the narcotics traffic."

All over Latin America, the intelligence documents say, "the greatest detriment to effective enforcement is corruption. The corruption goes all the way to the top of some Latin American governments."

But in Latin America, too, President Nixon's vows to cut off aid to offending lands have been ignored. The documents say explicitly: "Coercive measures, such as reduction or termination of AID programs ... generally have proven to be ineffective."

Footnote: The stack of documents in our hands also tells similar tales of rampant drug activity with various kinds of government collusion or inaction in Afghanistan, Pakistan, Mexico, Lebanon, India, Peru, Bolivia, Hong Kong and Syria.

Inside Labor

Inside Democrats' Headquarters
Larry O'Brien Says Reports
Signal Heavy Labor Vote
for McGovern Despite
'Neutrality'

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON— The "labor vote"-- call it blue collar or white-- is one of the crackling running stories of this weird campaign. This vote will make or break one or the other of the Presidential candidates. Both parties claim it.

Thus, now with less than a month to Election Day, I urged Larry O'Brien, National Campaign Chairman, McGovern for President, and Clark MacGregor, Campaign Director, Committee For the Re- election of the President, to canvass their precinct workers and cull their inside reports and predict in the name of their candidates where they belive the labor vote will go.

MacGregor's projections will follow in a few days the analysis and prediction reported here today by Larry O'Brien, speaking for Senator McGovern.

By Lawrence F. O'Brien

Nothing in my political experience or on the American political scene as I now perceive it convinces me that organized labor will be anywhere but in the Democratic column on Nov. 7.

I realize that it has become the accepted wisdom of this campaign that the working men and women of America are going to turn their backs on George McGovern and the party that has supported the labor movement at every crucial moment over the past four decades.

I simply refuse to accept that suggestion. Perhaps it is the fact that 42 international unions representing some 9 million workers have endorsed the McGovern— Shriver ticket. Perhaps it is our soundings in the key industrial states showing widespread union support not only for McGovern but for the principles and programs of the Democratic party.

But I am convinced that labor will be there when we need it.

Beginning my fourth Presidential campaign in an organizational capacity, I was naturally distressed when, at the onset, George Meany proclaimed the neutrality of the AFL— CIO. I continue to hope that as Election Day approaches President Meany will join us in one of the critical decisions of this century.

But I have been intrigued to note that the lack of the traditional pro forma endorsement has had some positive fallout. On their own, the 42 unions that already have endorsed McGovern have conducted an unprecedented grass roots campaign to deliver the vote into the Democratic column. In terms not only of numbers, but of publicity, their efforts have been one of the great plusses of this campaign.

Concededly, the public opinion polls show George Mcgovern to be trailing Mr. Nixon by a wide margin. McGovern's own polls show the margin to be somewhat slimmer than that indicated by Gallup and Harris. But for the sake of credibility, let me concentrate on the survey taken not by our own pollster, but by Mr. Nixon's.

Bob Teeter, polling for the Republicans, has been cautioning the White House that the Presidential contest will narrow dramatically in the closing days of the campaign.

Teeter also developed a scenario that can produce victory for McGovern: Republican lethargy, the return of Northern Democrats to the fold, and a variety of mistakes or unforeseen events in the remaining weeks of the campaign that would switch the undecided voters or the soft Nixon supporters into the Democratic columns.

Mr. Nixon, of course, recognizes these potential pitfalls. This is why he has chosen a campaign path that I fear bodes ill for our open political process: to remain in the White House or in carefully controlled public settings; to avoid the press at all costs; to avoid the people; and to let surrogate candidates (at government expense) roam the country in his stead.

The Nixon attitude toward the campaign was telegraphed nearly a year ago when his campaign committee was formed-- and failed even to mention the name of the candidate. "The Committee For the Reelection of the President," it was called.

In a nation already disillusioned about its political leaders, a nation with the worst voting turnout of any Western democracy, and a nation that expects to have the opportunity to measure its leaders fully, the "Hide Richard Nixon" campaign can only be viewed as distressing.

I predict that the closing two weeks of this Presidential campaign will provide one of the most exciting finishes of any campaign we have known. The polls currently in print are two to three weeks old and do not reflect the feelings of voters-- especially of Democrats-- as Election Day actually approaches and they begin seriously to consider the stakes. Especially heartening is a massive registration drive that already has added four million to the voting rolls, along with a continuing flow (averaging $130,0000 daily) of small contributions by direct mail which surpasses any such effort I have seen in two decades.

During the closing month of the campaign, Sen. McGovern is taking to the air waves to address the American people directly and in depth on the critical issues of this election and the vivid choice offered by the Democratic and Republican programs.

His public campaigning will focus more on the major electoral states, where organized labor will have a close- up view of the candidate and what he and his party stand for.

The elements for one of the most dramatic come- from-behind victories in our political history are clearly in place.

Nixon Fund Raisers Ordered To Florida For Watergate Trial

MIAMI (AP) — Three of President Nixon's top fund raisers have been ordered to appear as material witnesses in the Florida trial of Watergate defendant Bernard L. Barker.

Barker, is one of five men arrested in the break- in at Democratic headquarters in Washington. He is accused here of misuse of a notary public seal on a $25,000 campaign check from Kenneth Dahlberg, Republican finance chairman for the Midwest.

Dade County Criminal Court Judge Paul Baker signed an extradition order Thursday for Dahlberg, former Secretary of the Treasury Maurice Stans and Hugh W. Sloan to appear at the Oct. 26 trial in Miami.

Meanwhile, Barker's attorneys subpoenaed The Associated Press, United Press International, 33 radio stations and six television stations in the Miami areas to appear at a pretrial hearing today.

The subpoenaes sought tapes, transcripts and files of news stories concerning "the Watergate Caper."

The reason for the subpoenaes was not clear at once, although there was speculation they involved a possible change of venue motion.

Judge Baker's order for the extradition of the three Republican figures said their appearance "could not be secured voluntarily."

Courts in Minnesota, Washington, D.C., and Virginia would have to rule on theextradition order if the three men refuse to appear.

Miss Co. Voters To Get Five Ballots

CHARLESTON--- Registered voters in Mississippi County will vote on five ballots in the Nov. 7 general election.

A 10 cent per $100 valuation tax levy for a sanitary landfill will be included. The Mississippi County Court decided Oct. 5 to ask voters for the 10- cent levy, which is expected to bring in approximately $43,000 per year for the operation of a landfill to serve Charleston and East Prairie. If approved by voters, the tax levy would be assessed in 1973.

Three trustees for Mississippi County Health Department are to be elected for four- year terms. Dr. Lowell Nicholas withdrew as a candidate Thursday, leaving only three, Dr. Wilbur L. Davis and Dr. Robert L. Robbins of Charleston and Mrs. Mary Miller of Wyatt, who have filed for the positions.

Other ballots will include the presidential, state and county candidates, two proposed constitutional amendments and one judicial ballot for or against State Supreme Court Justice John E. Bardgett.

Court Must Decide How To Prosecute

MARYVILLE, Mo. (AP) — The circuit court will have to decide whether a 15-year-old youth will be prosecuted as an adult on a charge of slaying four members of a farm family, says prosecutor Raymond Eckles.

A petition filed in Nodaway County Juvenile Court Thursday named the youth as the person who killed Marian Merrigan, 45; his wife, Kathleen, 41; a daughter, Helen Ann, 16, and a son, W lliam Eugene, 15.

Judge Frank Connett, sitting as substitute juvenile court judge, set a hearing for Monday.

As a youth, the juvenile was not identified but was being held in the Nodaway County jail.

Sheriff John Middleton said he had not learned a motive for the slayings. The pajama-clad Merrigans apparently were shot late Tuesday night. Their bodies were found Wednesday evening by three girls who stopped to see why Helen missed school that day.

Burglar Makes Self At Home

Lowrey, who had worked late, returned home at 9 p.m. to find his door open, the lights on, the television set turned on and blood on the floor in front of the television set. Blood was also found in other parts of the home.

Highway Patrolman Kenneth Ledbetter of Dexter said an empty whisky bottle was found near the television set, and the blood was apparently from a wound received when the burglar broke out the back door glass to gain entry.

$770 In Fines

EAST PRAIRIE — Only routine business was on the agenda of Thursday night's City Council meeting.

Police Judge J. Marvin Bryan reported that a total of $770 in fines were collected for the month. The council accepted the report.

Also approved was the collector's report showing a total of $18,475.14 collected.

Accounts payable in the amount of $2,929.84 was approved.

Man Kills Motorcycle Instead Of His Wife

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Creeping around outside his home with his .357 magnum pistol still smoking, Ralph Zelik bumped into two policemen.

He figured the best thing to do was confess.

"I just killed my motorcycle," Zelik, 34, admitted.

Nearby lay the cycle—with five slugs in it.

At a hearing Thursday on charges of firearms violations and intoxication, Zelik told the magistrate that the shooting followed an argument with his wife over the motorcycle.

Man Accused Of Molesting Daughter

KENNETT— A rural Malden man was arraigned Tuesday in Dunklin County Magistrate Court on a criminal charge of allegedly molesting his 12- year- old daughter on two separate occasions during the past month.

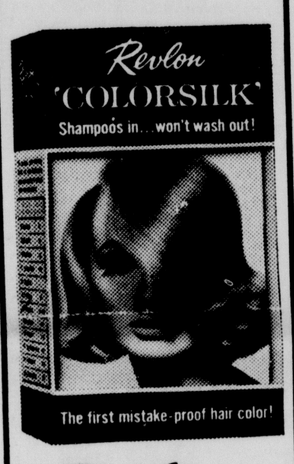

Kenneth S. Bibbs, 31, appeared on the charge before Magistrate Judge Leon McAnally. His case was continued to Oct. 13 to allow the defendant time to obtain legal counsel.

Prosecuting Attorney Charles H. Baker filed the charge against Bibbs Friday, alleging the defendant molested his daughter on Sept. 14 and Oct. 5, with the mother of the child as a witness.

Bean Truck Stolen

GIDEON — New Madrid County Sheriff Department reported a one and one-half ton dump truck loaded with 146 bushels of soil beans belonging to Dallas Darry was stolen Wednesday from the Christoher Elevator. The truck was recovered without the beans on Broadwater Road north of Malden.

Ann Landers

Food Stuffer Wants Mail Order Treatment

Dear Ann Landers: I read with interest the multiple complaints from the telephone operator. The more I read of her letter, the more irritated I became. Your answer was too gentle. I'm surprised you didn't land on Miss Dizzy Fingers with both hands and feet and tell her to get another job, one that doesn't require her to deal with the public.

I am an airline stewardess. We work Sundays, holidays, rain or shine, and there is no such thing as time- and- a- half for holidays. That telephone operator can go home to a Christmas dinner after she collects her time- and- a- half. Airline stewardesses go to a lonely hotel room. It's just like any other day in the week.

As for the telephone operator's other complaints, people are people. Some are nice and others are a pain in the neck. When HER "public" gets persnickety, profane, out-of- sorts or demanding she can plug them out after a few minutes and a polite sign- off. How would she like to cope with it for eight solid hours, 35,000 feet up?-- Up, Up and Can't Get Away

Dear Up: As one who has flown well over two million passenger miles I can attest to the fact you are a great group of girls. Seldom do I encounter a stewie who is not pleasant, courteous and perceptive enough not to sit herself next to me and unload her personal problem when I have 2,000 letters in my lap!

Dear Ann: I just finished eating ten chocolate cup cakes and am sick to my stomach. I have done this sort of thing for the last two years. Of course I am terribly overweight.

I am never hungry and I actually don't enjoy food. I just have this desire to sneak things into my room and stuff myself. Don't suggest that I see a doctor because I know he will tell me to stop it and I really don't want to. I get some sort of perverse pleasure out of this act, although I can't describe it.

If you can just tell me why I do it and give me some insight into what I am doing, maybe that will help. Please, Ann, I am counting on you. ---Dayton Pig

Dear D.: You're asking for mail- order psychiatric treatment and I can't provide it. I don't know why you stuff yourself with food you don't want and don't enjoy, although in many such situations a teen-ager is trying subconsciously to get even with somebody--perhaps a parent. You need more help than I can give you and I urge you to get it. Start with your school counselor.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a boy, 18 years old, a high school senior, and my dad is driving me nuts.

He has read a lot about drugs and is scared to death I might be trying something. Every time I come home he looks in my eyes to see if the pupils are dilated. Then he goes through my pockets looking for grass. He gives me the third degree about where I've been and with whom. Last night I caught him sniffing around my room to see if anything smelled "funny."

I know he loves me but it's terrible to be under this kind of pressure. I have never given him any trouble. There is no reason for him to be so suspicious. Will you please tell me how to get him off my back?---Inquisition in Utah

Dear U.: Parents do their children a gross disservice by demonstrating such lack of faith. A child whose parents have a high opinion of him will bend over backwards to live up to it. And the same goes for a low opinion. Show this to your dad--- and I hope it helps.

A no- nonsense approach to how to deal with life's most difficult and most rewarding arrangement. Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage-- What To Expect," will prepare you for better or for worse. Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50c in coin and a long, stamped, self- addressed envelope.

The $239.50 Cimatron Calculator

Our worthy competitors would like you to believe that a good printing calculator costs as much as $395.

But it doesn't anymore.

Because now Cimatron has come up with a precision four-function printing calculator (÷, ×, +, −) that costs only $239.50.

And if the competition looks worried, it's because the Cimatron Calculator sells for a full $60 to $130 less than any other calculator in its class. In fact, Cimatron gives you a full-function calculator that lists 10 digits and totals 11 for even less than you'd pay for one of those so-called "sophisticated" office adding machines.

SPEED. But if price alone isn't enough, just compare speed.

The competition's top printing capacity ranges from 2½ to 3 lines per second. Not nearly as fast as the incredibly efficient Cimatron, which solves and prints problems at speeds of 4½ to 5 lines per second, fastest in its class.

And because studies have shown that more than 70% of all work done on printing calculators is adding and subtracting, we've designed our keyboard to conform with conventional adding machine touch operation.

So a fast adding machine operator will be able to work even more efficiently with a Cimatron.

It gets the work you do the most done the fastest.

EXTRAS. The Cimatron Calculator offers more features than any other comparably priced machine.

Internal memory for storing figures in Grand Total. Automatic total key for continuous chain multiplication. Single, double, and triple cipher keys. Overflow safety lock.

Automatic double spacing between results. Razor sharp numerals, with negatives and credit balances printed in red.

And with ample spacing between the contoured, touch-coded keys, the Cimatron Calculator has been designed expressly for American-sized hands.

DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR, the Cimatron Calculator has more features than any other printing calculator in history.

No wonder our competitors are feeling the pressure.

A's End 41-Yr. Drought

By LARRY PALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP) — In 1931 Herbert Hoover was President, champagne was illegal, and Manager Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics were the American League baseball champions.

A lot has changed in the 41 years since but one thing is the same—the Athletics, now of Oakland, are again AL champions.

They will carry the pennant into Cincinnati where they'll face the National League champion Reds beginning Saturday in the World Series.

It took the maximum of five games, but the A's finally overcame the Detroit Tigers with a 2-1 victory Thursday to take the AL playoffs.

"The day I got traded (from the Chicago Cubs) Dick Williams called me at my house and said, 'We're going to put you in the World Series.' And damned if he didn't," said Oakland pitcher Ken Holtzman, smiling as he sat quietly in front of his clubhouse locker.

Most of his teammates were exploding champagne corks, splashing beer, hugging each other, and yelling with joy. Even millionaire owner Charlie Finley joined in, pouring champagne on dry heads and crying with happiness at the moment which seemed to be slipping away after Tiger victories Tuesday and Wednesday.

Holtzman is Manager Williams' choice to pitch the Series opener and the A's will have suspended shortstop Bert Campaneris back in action, although Reggie Jackson may be out with a pulled hamstring muscle suffered in a successful steal of home plate Thursday.

The A's won Thursday on the strong arms of John "Blue Moon" Odom and Vida Blue, plus some questionable Tiger fielding and the running of Jackson and his replacement, George Hendrick.

Winner Odom gave up an unearned run in the first inning as he pitcheda two-hitter for five frames before getting an upset stomach. Blue finished the job with a lightning fastball, allowing three harmless singles in picking up the save.

Campaneris, suspended by AL President Joe Cronin for the last three playoff games for throwing a bat at Detroit pitcher Lerrin LaGrow, joined in the Oakland post-game bedlam but wasn't saying much.

It was learned Thursday night that Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn will permit Campaneris to play in the Series.

Jackson opened the A's second with a walk off loser Woodie Fryman, stole second, and reached third on a long fly out by Sal Bando.

Mike Epstein was hit with a pitch and Gene Tenace struck out before Epstein broke for second on a steal, hoping Tiger catcher Bill Freehan would throw to second and give Jackson a chance to steal home. And that's what Freehan did, both runners sliding in safe.

Jackson was injured in the slide and replaced by Hendrick, who reached first leading off the fourth on a throwing error.

Left fielder Duke Sims was a little slow getting the ball out of his glove on the hit. It was a close play at the plate and Freehan let the throw slip away; however, Hendrick was ruled safe before that.

Jackson Visits Tiger Clubhouse

DETROIT (AP) — It was a memorable, dramatic ending to a memorable day.

Oakland center fielder Reggie Jackson made his way on crutches slowly and deliberately, down an echoing, virtually empty corridor at Tiger Stadium to the Tiger clubhouse.

Jackson pulled a hamstring muscle when he stole home in the second inning, sliding into burly catcher Bill Freehan in the A's 2-1 victory that clinched the American League pennant three games to two. He had to be helped off the field and was replaced by George Hendrick—who scored the winning run with another slide into Freehan.

Jackson hopped through the door into the carpeted room.

Only a few of the Tigers remained.

Al Kaline approached and shook Jackson's hand.

"I've been calling on the phone over there trying to get you and nobody answers," Kaline said. "How's your leg?"

"It's okay. I hope to be able to play in the Series," Jackson said.

Then Martin walked over from across the room to greet him.

"You're a heck of a guy," Jackson told Martin, shaking his hand. "Believe me, I don't like playing against you guys."

"You showed me a lot of class," Martin said in return. "I like guys like you."

Jackson shook the hands of Duke Sims and Aurelio Rodriguez, and said, "You guys have a great amount of pride and that's all I came over here to say."

Then he left, hobbling slowly.

Jackson said if chances are 50-50 he can play against Cincinnati in the Series, "I'll play. If I can hobble, I can play. I've got all winter to heal, so I can go all out."

ANAHEIM — Bobby Winkles, who coached Arizona Sate to the collegiate championship, was named manager of the California Angels, replacing Del Rice.

Tourney Set At Mini- Dome

Sikeston High School will host its first invitational basketball tournament in its spacious field house facility this season, with seven teams expected to join the Bulldogs for an early December affair.

Professional games and regional basketball competition have been held at the local mini-dome, along with the regular Bulldog home matches, but, until now, the facility has been put to limited use.

Charleston, Poplar Bluff, Hayti, Gideon and Chaffee have accepted invitations for the Dec. 4-9 affair. An opening still remains.

Cape Girardeau Central, Kennett, Illmo-Scott City and Luxora, Ark., are unanimous favorites to post wins in Southeast Missouri high school football, according to The Daily Standard's panel of guessers. The Tigers and Rams go into tonight's battle unbeaten.

Poplar Bluff wasn't given a vote to unseat the powerful Central High Tigers at Cape Girardeau's Houck Stadium tonight. The Mules did, however, draw some notoriety by being picked to stay within 12 points of the undefeated Bengals ... 36-24.

Kennett is a solid choice to defeat Charleston in its Northern Division encounter ... 28-7 while I-SC was an overwhelming choice to shut out Doniphan, 45-0, and Luxora, Ark., is a 27-12 pick to down South Pemiscot.

In the battle of the unwinnables — East Prairie against Caruthersville — the hosting Eagles are a 7-3 pick with one prognosticator going with a tie. I tagged the Tigers with the win.

Jackson is a 10-1 choice to defeat Chaffee, while Hayti is a 9-1 favorite over Malden, with the old swami going with JHS and a tie between the Green Wave and Indians.

Portageville is a 7-5 choice to defeat Cairo, Ill., with the swami going with the Bulldogs all the way.

Sikeston and Dexter deadlocked with five votes each after this week's panel of prognosticators — Rovina Ralph, Steve Myers, Ron Hornback, Tony Ford, Danny Summerfield, Handsome? Forbis, John Greer, Bobby Gentry, Jerry Gentry and the Shadow — voted. The swami cracked the tie with a deciding vote in favor of the Bulldogs ... But not by more than one point. The SHS offense must move to score tonight or the Dogs will find themselves on the losing end of a big score ... Dexter can cross the goal line, in evidence of its 91 points on the season, compared to the Bulldogs' 43, which rates 17th in the district.

Skins Favored

NEW YORK (AP) — Nobody's going unbeaten in the National Football League. Nobody ... including the Miami Dolphins. Sooner or later, somebody'll get 'em.

But, not this week.

San Diego's suddenly-super Chargers should bite the lint in the Orange Bowl as the Dolphins go 5-0 with the toughest part of their schedule behind them.

Elsewhere in the NFL, the hour of decision will come for at least two erstwhile powerhouses, the Minnesota Vikings and Baltimore Colts. Each is 1-3 and another defeat will just about kill playoff hopes.

Game by game, here's the call for Sunday-Monday:

Miami 24, San Diego 10: It looks like a ground war and Miami has a tank in Larry Csonka, a bazooka in Jim Kiick and a rocket in Mercury Morris that gives it the edge. Both defenses are underrated.

Oakland 30, Buffalo 14: The Raiders have their offense untracked and George Blanda shouldn't have to be summoned for heroics.

San Francisco 38, New York Giants 17: The Giants have beaten the NFL's two weakest teams, Philadelphia and New Orelans, but their defense can't hold John Brodie and pals.

Green Bay 17, Detroit 13: The Packers' Scott Hunter should have a good battle with Detroit's Greg Landry, but defense should still be the key in the well-matched Monday night TV special.

Atlanta 27, New Orleans 14: The Saints haven't won in four starts and are solid picks to make it five. The Falcons need only to continue improving their offense to be true division contenders.

Cleveland 24, Chicago 14: The Bears are 0-3-1 and seem headed for another winless weekend although running quarterback Bobby Douglass and powerful Cyril Pinder give Chicago at least a chance for an upset.

Kansas City 24, Cincinnati 17: This matchup of division leaders is perhaps the NFL's game of the week. The Bengal offense finally got rolling last week, but the Chiefs provide too tough a barrier.

Dallas 13, Baltimore 10: Neither team has been outstanding, but the Cowboys keep getting by. Colt luck has been sour and a sudden spree by John Unitas seems Baltimore's only hope for not sitting out the playoffs.

Pittsburgh 21, Houston 14: The Oilers aren't as bad as they looked last Monday night ... nobody is. But, they're not good enough to win just yet with quarterback Dan Pastorini.

Los Angeles 27, Philadelphia 10: The Eagles are well balanced, poor on both offense and defense.

Minnesota 20, Denver 7: Tarkenton wins one and keeps the Vikings alive for a fifth straight division title while the Purple Gang does reasonably well in hemming up Floyd Little and his playmates.

New York Jets 24, New England 17: This one is an air fight between Joe Namath and Jim Plunkett and the Broadway one usually gets the best of such things.

Washington 35, St. Louis 24: Sonny Jurgensen is back and Gary Cuozzo has pumped offensive life into the Cardinals, making this one of the better shows of the weekend.

Nolan To Open Series

CINCINNATI (AP) — Two years ago Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson boasted: "Bring on the big bad Birds, We'll beat 'em."

Anderson's first Cincinnati team had won the National League pennant in a threegame playoff sweep over Pittsburgh. He looked down his nose at the American League champion Baltimore Orioles.

The Orioles made Anderson choke on his words, beating the Reds in the Series four games to one. Anderson hasn't forgotten. He's not about to make the same mistake.

"I have to be honest," said Anderson Thursday as he watched the Oakland Athletics win the American League pennant over the Detroit Tigers, "after the beating we took in '70, I'll make no comment. I'm not going to give Dick (Oakland Manager Dick Williams) any ammunition."

Anderson added, "I never dreamed an American League club would beat us, but I've changed my thinking about the AL now. Dick's team plays good baseball."

The 38-year-old Anderson recalled his outlook before the 1970 Series.

"In 1970 I was naive," he said. "I had never been to a World Series. I was just so glad to be there. I came in awe. The whole season was that way. I remember the reaction in Cincinnati when I got the job. They said Sparky who?

"Everybody at the Series couldn't understand how I could be so nice after losing. Well, I was so glad to be there I didn't realize until I got home that we had lost four out of five."

Anderson watched the A's go ahead of the Tigers 2-1, then win by that score.

"Oakland has great balance," Anderson said. "They can run, have good pitching and a fine defense. And they've got some good bats in Reggie Jackson, Joe Rudi, Mike Epstein and Sal Bando."

The Cincinnati manager said Oakland posed a different problem from a pitching standpoint than Detroit would have presented.

"If the Tigers had won, we would have had to look at Lolich maybe three times," Anderson noted. "The A's have Jim Hunter, John Odom, Ken Holtzman, Vida Blue and a darn good bullpen."

Anderson said of his own team that the Reds' pitching was 50 per cent stronger than it was in 1970 against Baltimore.

Cincinnati does have one pitching question mark, righthander Gary Nolan.

Nolan finished with a 15-5 record in the regular season, but was almost unused the last two months because of a sore shoulder and neck.

"Nolan will be our openinggame pitcher," Anderson said, but the manager can't be sure of that until Nolan warms up before the game Saturday. Nolan worked six innings of the third National League playoff game. He left leading 2-1 when his arm stiffened.

CHURCH NOTES

Clergy Divided On Presidential Race

NEW YORK (AP) — While some church leaders have organized to support the presidential candidacy of Sen. George McGovern, others are advising against such partisanship and others have voiced their backing for President Nixon.

It's a mixed medley when it comes to recording the religious counterpoint to the current national election contest, but that element is keenly involved this time, even though both candidates are Protestants.

"Directly and indirectly, religious factors will play an extremely important role in the outcome," says the Rev. Dr. Gerald Strober, who has done special research on the subject.

For the first time in the annuals of modern presidential elections, some prominent churchmen have formed a cross-country interfaith network, called "Religious Leaders for McGovern," in behalf of the Democratic contender.

Although acting as individuals, and specifically not as spokesmen of their constituencies, they maintain that ending the Vietnam war is such a basic moral imperative that it justifies clergy in taking sides publicly in the campaign.

It's a new strategy, breaking with the long-time practice against clergymen organizing to back particular candidates. But its key planner, Methodist Bishop James Armstrong of Aberdeen, S.D., says there are "new reasons" for it.

"We're raining death on Vietnam today more than ever before," he says. "A nation is being reduced to rubble and it's our moral responsibility to do whatever we can to stop it."

Local units of pro-McGovern clergy are being formed in many communities.

On the other hand, Dr. Strober, coauthor of a new book issued by Association Press called "Religion and the New Majority," contends that the nation's new, predominant political force is symbolized by evangelist Billy Graham's friendship with Nixon.

"There's a close affinity between Nixon's and Graham's political and social philosophy and their vision of America," Dr. Strober says, adding that their view coincides with that of a growing preponderance of evangelical Christians.

He says that even though Graham avoids specific endorsements, his influence strengthens Nixon's position, both because of their close friendship and the compatibility of their views, which is shared by a decisive "new majority" of middle Americans.

Some clergy have backed Nixon more directly.

In Fort Worth, Tex., at a meeting of the National Baptist Convention, U.S.A., representing 6.3 million members and the country's largest black denomination, its president, the Rev. Dr. Joseph H. Jackson, came out for Nixon's re-election.

However, "boos" and shouted protests sounded in the meeting hall when he told 12,000 delegates: "McGovern says he'll get us out of Vietnam in 10 days. If he does more than Nixon in Vietnam, he'll carry a white flag."

Rabbi David Polish, president of the Central Conference of American Rabbis, urged Jewish institutions and their representative leaders not to take sides publicly in the contest. He said such partisanship could produce a schism detrimental both to the cause of Israel and of the American Jews.

This week's Uniform INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

EXPLOITATION OF PERSONS: THE SEXUAL REVOLUTION

A cartoon in a nationally-circulated magazine showed a minister conducting a wedding. And the minister remarked ". . . and do you promise to love, honor, cherish each other even though the institution of matrimony may become obsolete?"

Today's lesson may be combined with World Order Sunday, a time for the church to pay special attention to the urgency of living together and solving our problems without recourse to war.

This lesson concerns our sexual revolution. Next week we will review the racial revolution. Our Christian faith demands our study of these problems today.

With the widespread availability of birth control pills and the liberalizing of abortion laws many changes have occured in our views on sex.

Such changes have caused the church to face up to pressures to support the traditionally-held standards of sexual behavior.

Many books and magazine articles have reported on a more frank approach to sex. Dr. David Reuben claims that it is nobody's business what an American adult does in the privacy of his or her home.

Debates continue over the "X" rated movies and some Broadway plays. Is the open portrayal of sex acts a sociological approach or is it a stimulating unrestrained and demoralizing incident?

The Bible reminds us that the body "is a temple of the Holy Spirit" and "You are not your own; you were bought with a price. So glorify God in your body."

The Bible discusses sex in many instances. Some forms of sex are described as immoral while others are acceptable for a meaningful marriage.

Some persons may not agree with Paul, who wrote that it was sometimes better for people to marry if they could not control their passions.

If one is to believe the avalanche of sex-oriented material in print today, Paul's philosophy is not too often followed. Yet these articles have served one goal--they have brought the discussion of sex into the open.

Equal rights are recognized in Corinthians, where we read, "The husband should give to his wife her conjugal rights, and likewise the wife to her husband."

The Bible also stresses the fact that celibacy and marriage are gifts from God. Christian couples must discuss sex problems to avoid frustration, dissatisfaction, and temptation to divorce or adultry.

Dr. Reuben notes that sex is more than physical relationship. It includes "above all, love," The Christian's attitude toward sex is reflected in the word "consecration." which means a personal holiness that is pleasing to God.

The Christian must exercise self-control, avoiding any act that might disgrace his body. He must not have a guilt feeling in discussing sex, recognizing the positive benefits of sex used as God intended it to be.

Our young people have expanded their moral horizons. The majority are not immoral. But they do question institutions older generations accepted. They see so many divorces that they question the value of marriage.

With the world becoming over-crowded, students debate the value of Genesis where it reads, "Be fruitful, and multiply, and fill the earth and subdue it."

These young people today witness the problem of overpopulation. They seek a better world, open in its discussion of all major issues. And they see a need for more sexual education early in schools.

(Based on outlines prepared by the Department of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., and used by permission.)

THE SPIRITUALS of Wood River, Ill., Above, the Travelers Quartet of Carbondale, Ill., and the Tate Singers of Sikeston will be featured in a gospel singing program at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the Morehouse school gymnasium.

Diocese No. 1 In SPF Support

SPRINGFIELD— As an afterthought to his keynote address at the Springfield segment of the Diocesan Education Institute, Bishop Edward O'Meara returned abruptly and unexpectedly to the microphone to state (with apologies for the belatedness of the announcement) that he wanted to go on record for congratualting the Diocese of Springfield— Cape Girardeau for being the No. 1 diocese in the United States in helping the Society for the Propagation of the Faith.

Bishop O'Meara, national director of the society, was in the diocese to speak at both the Cape Girardeau and the Springfield segments of the Diocesan Education Institute.

He made his announcement of the diocese's top position in SPPF aid with great enthusiasm and with apologies for not making the announcement earlier, at the Cape Girardeau presentation the weekend before.

The Bishop's announcement, and his manner of making it, was met with equally enthusiastic and friendly applause by his audience of 200— 300, consisting of priests and religious and lay teachers.

He remarked also that the diocese's record in this endeavor is more thoroughly remarkable in that it is, itself, still classifed as a "mission diocese."

Bishop O'Meara said that the diocese's position as top supporter of the society was made from calculations which took into account the size and Catholic population of the diocese.

In other words, he said, for its size and Catholic population, the Diocese of Springfield- Cape Girardeau heads the list as the U.S. diocese strongest in its aid to SPF.

The 1971 offering from the Church of Springfield-Cape Girardeau to the Propagation of the Faith was $43,053. The Peter's Pence Offering from the diocese for 1972 was $25,261.93.

While visiting in the diocese, Bishop O'Meara was joined by Bishop William W. Baum, the priests and the people in participating in the world- wide celebration of the 150th anniversary of the founding of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith.

The occasion was celebrated with concelebrated masses in both of the diocese's cathedrals— St. Mary's Cathedral in Cape Girardeau on Sept. 24 and St. Agnes Cathedral in Springfield on Oct. 1. Following each mass, the priests in the respective areas honored Bishop O'Meara with a dinner.

A JUNE RELEASE

Modern Man Series Expanded

NEW YORK — "Wisdom for Modern Man," containing the books of Proverbs and Ecclesiastes, has been published by the American Bible Society in Today's English Version. The complete Bible in this common language translation is scheduled for publication in 1976.

"Good News for Modern Man," the New Testament in Today's English Version, first published in September 1966, currently is in its third edition and has a circulation figure in excess of 35 million.

Proverbs and Ecclesiastes are two Old Testament books in the Bible classified as "wisdom literature" because of their down- to- earth recognition of the practical, everyday concerns of man.

Like "Good News for Modern Man," this is a distinctly new translation that does not conform to traditional vocabulary and style. It seeks to express the meaning of the original Hebrew text in words and forms accepted as standard by people everywhere who employ English as a means of communication.

Two previously published Old Testament books in Today's English Version are "Psalms for Modern Man," originally printed in December 1970 and "Tried and True," Job for Modern Man, printed in August 1971. The former has a circulation figure in excess of three million, and the latter, in excess of one million.

"Wisdom for Modern Man" can be obtained from the American Bible Society, 1865 Broadway, New York, N. Y. 10023, for 10 cents per copy, plus five per cent handling charge (minimum 25 cents).

The American Bible Society is a nonprofit organization founded in 1816, whose aim is to translate, publish and distribute the Scriptures, without note or comment, to people everywhere in a language they can read or understand at a price they can afford.

Hush in Churches

Radical Conflict Is Fading Out

By REV. DAVID POLING

It came with a whoosh. The sudden change of radical conflict within the institutional church. For almost a decade the religious arena has been drenched with the fireworks and commotion of social change and social changers. Vietnam was an enduring conflict. Black/white relations always at the center. Urban heartache and upheaval not far from the discussion table. But now so many of these issues and topics have taken a shift toward the moderate tempo, a quieting down of conflict, a reduction in combat.

Personalities were the fuse for many issues. Consider Angela Davis. Many within the United Presbyterian Church have said that the grant of $10,000 toward her defense fund last summer probably cost the denomination $10 million in the long run. Some argued that she couid not get a fair trial in Marin County. Others supported the cash for making the bond payment. A few felt that she would not live to stand trial—a mysterious death in a cell or something. Last fall, this column stepped out on the edge and said two things: To the anger of the whites, she was probably innocent. To the dismay of the blacks, she would get a fair trial. Both events have come true, not because we have a better crystal ball but a larger trust in people and the system called America.

Angela Davis is out free and lecturing. Her cause has split churches, canned clergymen and entertained a thousand campus bull-sessions. But, again, suddenly, it is over. We shall not see such a celebrity topic for the church for quite some time.

For our money, the true radical of this half-century died recently in Monterey, Calif., Saul Alinsky. A Jew, he had enormous influence upon the conscience and social awareness of the church. A former Communist, he did much to shape the world-view of Christians toward the masses in the urban culture and the forgotten masses picking spinach and lettuce.

Saul Alinsky gained large fame with his organization called FIGHT, which tackled Eastman Kodak in Rochester, N.Y. The giant film corporation had a dreadful employment record toward blacks and manicured Rochester shared in this civic and industrial put-down. Then social philosopher-activist Alinsky and the local council of churches joined forces and put the wood to the elders at City Hall and their friends who ran Kodak. It was a classic confrontation and the Alinsky people won.

Alinsky, being a true, noncorrupt radical, was his own man. At 60, he was not beyond telling the liberal establishment that they were fools to listen to reparation talk manufactured by people like James Forman and his "billing" the churches for past sins, like slavery in America. Sit-ins in denominational offices were absurd and Alinsky scolded those who meekly endured such theatrics performed by professional agitators. In recent days, Alinsky talked about organizing the forgotten man—middle America. Here were millions caught between the all-powerful unions and the welfare lobby. Alinsky looked fondly toward the needs of the white-collar commuter who suffered and often died at the hands of bureaucrats, transportation companies and housing tracts. Alinsky is gone and he will be missed. The church has few radicals to suit up for the last half of the 20th century.

THE BIBLE

52. The Last Plague

The Lord came to Moses and told him there would be one more plague on the Land of Egypt. The first born of all the Egyptians and their live stock, even Pharaoh's, would die. To spare the Israelites, the Lord said all of them should kill a lamb and take its blood and smear it on the two side posts and upper door posts of their houses. The night the first born would die, the Lord would pass over the houses with the blood on the door posts, thus sparing the first born of the Israelites. They were to have a feast of the lamb and it would be a memorial to the Lord's Passover.

The Lord commanded Moses that the Feast of the Passover should be kept for all times and celebrated each year. The night of the Passover occurred and there was great sadness throughout the land of Egypt. Pharaoh was stunned by the death of his own son. He realized he could no longer hold the Hebrews. He called Moses and Aaron and told them they could go and take all their possessions with them.

The Egyptians were so happy to see the children of Israel leave that they gave their jewels, clothes and things they would need for their journey.

Describes 'Fused' Bodies

McGovern Uses Anti-War Tape At University Rally

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — As hushed thousands listened, the voice of an anonymous young man describing the horrors of Vietnam poured from loudspeakers across the vast mall of the University of Minnesota.

"I don't think the American people really, really understand war and what's going on," the voice began.

"We went into villages after they dropped napalm, and the human beings were fused together. They were fused like pieces of metal that had been soldered," he said.

"Sometimes you couldn't tell if they were people or animals."

The voice stopped. There was silence.

Finally Sen. George McGovern said, "I guess there is nothing more to say after that except that this is a young man who has spoken the truth and now I think it's up to us to take the next step which is to change the kind of leadership that put the young man in the position out of which he's just come.

"So let's go out and do the job that we need to do and put a new leadership in charge of this country next year."

Some applauded, though most of the predominantly student crowd stood quietly. By newsmen's estimates, 10,000 were there Thursday night.

The voice was on a tape recording McGovern received earlier Thursday when he was interviewed by Jerry Williams of Boston radio station WBZ. Williams told him of the tape, made when the unknown young man phoned his talk show.

McGovern took it with him to Minneapolis, going to the rear of the plane and listening to it.

His eyes moistened, he turned away and looked out the window, then pulled out a handkerchief and dabbed at his face.

At the university, McGovern had finished his main speech, an attack on critics of his proposals to end the Vietnam war, when he was given a bracelet in behalf of a young Jew held in a Moscow jail. It prompted McGovern to return to his criticism of the war and to play the tape for the audience.

"This is a young GI back from Vietnam," the nominee said. He did not mention that the identity of the purported soldier was unknown and that there was no proof of the authenticity of the story.

The voice on the tape talked of devastation from U. S. bombs.

"You go into a village, not even the bugs- you can't find bugs - that's how fantastic and devastating it is. And what bothers me is when you're there you accept it.

"You rationalize it. You condone it.

"You say it's right 'cause they are the enemy and then when you come home you can't believe that you didn't have the courage to open your mouth against that kind of murder — that kind of devastation over people, over animals."

At times, the voice broke.

In Boston, Williams said of the tape, "As far as I am concerned it's legitimate."

Missouri On Nixon Agenda

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — A Republican campaign leader says he has been assured President Nixon will visit Missouri the last week of this month.

Warren Morgens, executive director of the Missouri Committee to R-Elect the President, said in a news conference Thursday he didn't know where the President will stop in the state.

Morgens said he couldn't confirm rumors that the President will take part in dedicating Kansas City's International Airport Oct. 21-23.

He said Nixon considers Missouri to be one of 14 critical swing states in next month's election.

Plan Would Make Lambert Biggest

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Globe-Democrat today disclosed particulars of a plan to expand Lambert airport to meet the needs of the metropolitan area through the turn of the century.

In a copyrighted story the Globe said the proposal calls for spending $370 million on Lambert Field modernizations, to make it capable of handling twice the capacity of Chicago O'Hare International. O'Hare is said to be the world's busiest commercial landing field.

The plan calls for work including construction of a new major runway, a new terminal, new parking facilities and an area for air cargo, the paper said.

The Missouri-St. Louis Airport Authority will outline the plan officially at today's Board of Aldermen session. The Authority is fighting citizens who say a second airport is needed—and it should be located near Columbia, Ill.

The Globe said the Lambert plan calls for first construction to begin by 1978 and to be completed by 1985. The paper said 200 families in suburban Hazelwood, Mo., will have to be relocated if the plan is approved.

The plan includes a statement by consulting engineers that the expanded Lambert could handle 60 million air passengers a year, the story said. Lambert now has a passenger capacity of 5.6 million. O'Hare serves 30 milliion passengers a year.

In a related development, Mayor A. J. Cervantes said he will ask the St. Louis Airport Commission to spend $25,000 on a feasibility study of the Lambert expansion plan. Cervantes has favored the Illinois airport proposal. But he says now he would like to have a more detailed look at the Lambert plan, to decide whether it will work. Cervantes and the Commission, which oversees city airports, will meet this morning before the aldermanic session.

Break- In Suspect Held In Mississippi County Jail

CHARLESTON — Les Achter, 37, of East Prairie is being held in Mississippi County jail for investigation of breaking and entering.

Achter is suspected of breaking into the mobile home of Paul Knupp, located near Anniston.

The break-in was reported to the sheriff's department about 4:45 p.m. Thursday by Knupp, who said a 16-gauge shotgun, .22 automatic rifle and a portable television were missing.

According to Deputy Sheriff Everett Holley, Achter was arrested at 7 p.m. Thursday at Mark's Restaurant on Highway 105 by Lt. Robert Smith of the Charleston police department.

Smith reportedly saw a gun in the back seat of Achter's car and was refused permission to search the car by Achter. Smith had the car towed to Ponder Chevrolet Co. in Charleston, where Achter consented to a search of his car after calling an attorney.

The 16-gauge shotgun was identified by Knupp.

Charges are expected to be filed today.

Stoddard To Vote On New Jail

BLOOMFIELD — According to County Clerk John Marvin Capps, four ballots will be presented to Stoddard County voters in the Nov. 7 general election.

The ballots include a proposed new jail to be built in Bloomfield with a 10-cent tax levy per $100 valuation for one year to pay for the jail.

Other ballots include a judicial ballot for or against State Supreme Court Judge John E. Bardgett; a constitutional ballot listing two proposed amendments and a ballot containing presidential, state and county candidates.

TV Taken In House Burglary

CHAFFEE — The Richard Enderle home near Rockview was broken into between 5:45 p.m. and 9:15 p.m. Thursday, according to the Scott County Sheriff's department.

A black and white television set valued at $50 was taken.

Entrance was gained through the back door.

Discuss Plan

BLOOMFIELD — Russell Baugh, plant manager of Elders Manufacturing Co. in Bloomfield, discussed expansion plans of the company at Thursday night's City Council meeting.

Kuehle Pans Distribution Of Missouri Blue Books

CLAYTON, Mo. (AP) — Secy. of State James Kiripatrick handles distribution of the state's "Blue Book" with the methods of operations of the "state Democrat political machine," Kirkpatrick's Republican opponent on Nov. 7, Harold "Wheels" Kuehle said Thursday.

Kuehle told a St. Louis County fund-raising party most of the 40,000 books printed biennially go to friends of legislators and other state politicians. "I submit that the taxpayers of Missouri have a right to know what has become of these thousands of extra Blue Books," he said.

Kuehle said the books are handled under a policy "in which the welfare of the machine comes first and the welfare of the people trails badly to the rear."

THE SPURRLOWS 1972

THE SPURRLOWS will present a complete two-hour show-----MONDAY, OCTOBER 16, at the SIKESTON FIELD HOUSE, 7:30 P.M.

ADULTS — $2.00
CHILDREN - $1.00

Sponsored by the Sikeston Jaycees

TICKETS AVAILABLE AT COLLINS PIANO, BEN'S FALKOFF'S OR ANY JAYCEE.
PROCEEDS TO GO TOWARD THE PURCHASE OF TOYS FOR NEEDY CHILDREN THIS CHRISTMAS.

Over the past fifteen years, the SPURRLOWS have played in over 3,000 high schools before six million students, in scores of colleges before enthusiastic sell-out crowds, in TV specials, and on the NBC Television Network Bob Hope Show. Their command performance in the East Room of The White House for President Nixon, his family, and 110 wounded Viet Nam veterans on Thanksgiving Day was carried on television network newscasts. Their sound can also be heard on ten long-playing stereo albums.

The twenty young musicians and technicians who make up the SPURRLOWS (average age 20) come from all parts of the nation. The SPURRLOW sound -- brass, rhythm, guitar, bass, keyboard, and vocal -- is incredibly varied. Pop, soul, folk, rock, instrumental selections, and inspirational, are all a part of the SPURRLOW show.

TOMORROW IS NATIONAL NEWSPAPERBOY DAY

Young Man Of The Hour

The young man who daily delivers your newspaper is an exceptional fellow. He provides you one of the friendliest and most dependable services you enjoy and in so doing brings the world to your doorsetp every day.

Like the proverbial postman, he makes his rounds in all kinds of weather. In a sense, a newspaper carrier is the "boy who finishes a man's job." Each newspaperboy is a vital link in a great team of men and machines gathering, printing and distributing local and worldwide events to the newspaper-reading public.

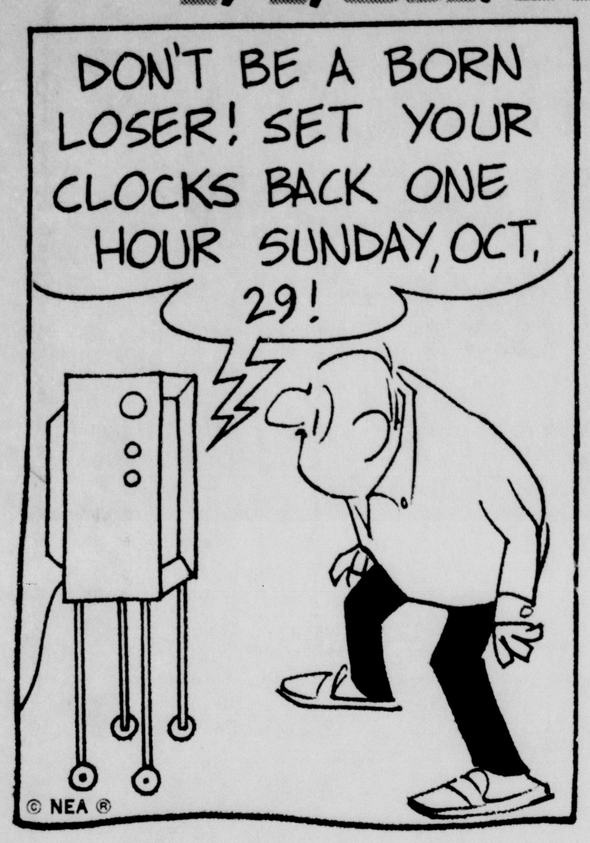

Publishers combine the skills of many different highly trained people to produce the kind of newspaper you want. And then they turn it over to these boys who today provide the finest delivery service in the world and who, in the process, are getting unique business training and character development that is preparing them to be leaders of tomorrow.

Newspaperboys learn at an early age the importance of dependability. They know what is involved in earning and handling money. They acquire traits of good character that contribute to their development as responsible future citizens. Basically, your newspaperboy is the grassroots symbol of free enterprise in action. He plans a vital role in the successful operation of the daily press and is deserving of commendation.

We are pleased, therefore, that the annual observance of Newspaper Week includes a day reserved for special recognition of newspaperboys and extend our congratulations and good wishes to the newspaper carriers of this community for a job capably performed day in and day out.

May National Newspaperboy Day serve as an occasion for a well-deserved tribute to these self-reliant young men. Truly, if the hope of tomorrow depends on the initiative and ambition of today's young people, your newspaperboy has a head start. He already is demonstrating his desire to succeed. —Martinez (Calif.) Gazette.

Home Economics Majors Offered $4,200 in Scholarships

SPECIAL — Scholarships totaling $4,200 are offered six coeds majoring in home economics, the National 4-H Service Committee has announced.

The scholarships are available to present or former 4-H members who are entering their junior year with a major in home economics or clothing-textiles-merchandising.

The S&H Foundation, Inc., New York and The West Bend Company, West Bend, Wis., each provide two $800 scholarships. The Boye Needle Company, Chicago, Ill., is making available funds for two scholarships of $500 each.

This is the first year that the latter company has sponsored 4-H scholarship awards. Labelled 4-H knitting-crocheting scholarships, the awards are named for Florence Flannery Wollverton and Mary Elizabeth Hendry.

Special applications for the scholarships and deadline dates in submitting credentials are available from the state 4-H office or the county extension agent.

A committee of Cooperative Extension Service personnel will review the applications and select the scholarship winners on the basis of interest and desire to major in a field of home economics, financial need, scholastic record in college and all-around 4-H record.

Announcement of winners will be made during the 1972 National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov. 26-30.

The six grants are among 245 scholarships valued at nearly $172,000 offered through the National 4-H Service Committee during 1972.

CHECKMATES—Tiny checks adorn this two-piece knit in a cotton blend. An embroidered yoke and ruffles set off the angel top that's worn over flared slacks. By Carter's.

ANNOUNCEMENT

LONG GROVE, ILLINOIS, October 10, 1972 — A definite agreement under which all outstanding shares of National Automobile and Casualty Insurance Co. of Los Angeles California, will be exchanged for 354,782 shares of Kemperco, Inc. common stock, was announced today jointly by John Q. McClure, Board Chairman of National Auto, and James S. Kemper, Jr., President of Kemperco.

The transaction, which is subject to approval by regulatory authorities, is valued at approximately $14,500,000.

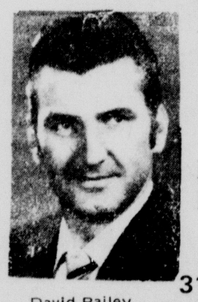

National Auto has assets of more than $20 million including a wholly-owned subsidiary, Citizens Life and Casualty Company, which has assets exceeding $5 million and more than $300 million of life insurance in force.

National Auto transacts business in 19 states, writing most types of insurance. It operates under the independent agency system through about 800 insurance agents and had premiums in 1971 of over $14 million.

"Mr. McClure and his associates have an outstanding organization with a good record of growth and profit in both personal and commercial lines of insurance. We are delighted about this new relationship and look forward to continued fine results," said Mr. Kemper.

Kemperco, Inc. is a publicly held company with 11 subsidiaries which operate in such fields as insurance, reinsurance, mutual funds, consumer finance, banking, real estate and safety consulting.

Missouri Editor Interviews Premier Chou En-Lai In China

PEKING (AP) — Premier Chou En-lai gave some footnotes for history in his recent interview with American newspaper editors visiting China.

He told about Soviet leader Nikita S. Khrushchev once proposing a joint navy with China; about Mao Tse-tung once suggesting that Khrushchev lecture at Peking University; and he addeddetails about how "a little Ping-Pong ball changed the world."

Wearing a black Mao jacket with a "serve the people" red badge, the No. 2 man in China's government said Khrushchev made his proposal for a joint Soviet-Chinese navy in 1958.

Chou said Chairman Mao answered: "There are two possibilities. You come and take over and we will get out; or don't come at all."

Khrushchev then said that all he was proposing was a joint fleet. And why would Mao say he would go?

"Mao answered that when you ask for a joint fleet you seek to control our navy so we will go back to the mountains and fight guerrilla warfare again," Chou said. "Khruschev withdrew his offer."

Chou also smilingly reported that in 1965, after Khrushchev had been deposed, Premier Alexei N.Kosygin stopped in Peking to visit with Mao on his way home from Hanoi.

"Chairman Mao asked about Khrushchev, saying, 'Since you don't want him, suppose we invite him to lecture at Peking University.' "

"After all," Chou continued, "the Russians had claimed Khrushchev was outstanding in championing Marxism. Chairman Mao suggested that if Khrushchev came to Peking University, the Chinese could then learn what he had really done in Marxism and why the Russians had disposed of him."

Chou said the trail- blazing visit to China by the U.S. table tennis team in April 1972 developed in this way:

During the world table tennis tournament, some individual members of the U.S. team wanted to visit China.

The Chinese Foreign Ministry decided the requests should not be approved.

"I myself approved this decision and submitted it to Chairman Mao," the premier continued, but Chairman Mao did not agree.

He noted that a majority of the team wanted to come and that the time was ripe. "So on the last day of the Ping Pong tournament then being played in japan," Chou said, "we telephoned inviting the American team. Your State Department could do nothing. Your President had said that contacts should be opened up.

"While we all knew the times was ripe, only Chairman Mao recognized that a little Ping Pong ball could change the world."

PEKING—Chou Bjt, take two: world.

Chou was asked about the possibility of American correspondents being assigned to cover China and Chinese correspondents to cover the United States other than the United Nations.

"Both sides want more contacts," he replied, but there is "a difficult part." He noted that at present there are still correspondents of the Nationalist Chinese news agency in the United States.

"If they would be admitted as correspondents from Taiwan that would not matter," he said, but as correspondents from another country a second China—that was "the difficult part."

He added that the first step is more frequent contacts and suggested that next year the American Society of Newspaper Editors come for another visit. "Maybe next time the group can be larger," he said.

Chou was also asked about visits by Chinese journalists to America. He laughed and said the decision "is not up to me," then added that their visit might be possible next year.

The 74-year-old premier is famous for his long working hours. For example, his interview with the American editors started at 10:32 p.m. and ended three hours and forty minutes later. Tea and cakes were served as the premier deftly handled questions. He appeared as fresh at 2:12 a.m., when the interview ended, as when it started.

He was asked about a report that he was studying English and did it mean that he was going to the United States.

"It is not me," Chou replied, "Chairman Mao is studying English.

"As for me, I studied English in middle school. That is the basis for my English. My teacher was an American. He insisted that I reply to questions in English and I couldn't."

Chou said later he went to France where he "only read English newspapers so I didn't learn French well."

Then still later, he was exposed to English through the American newspaperman Edgar Snow and during World War II through other Americans.

CBS TV Previews Youth Vote Poll

NEW YORK (AP) — Political polls these days are falling upon us faster than autumn leaves. And you'll hear about them nearly every day on television right until the presidential race ends Nov. 7.

Many samplings concern the effect of the so called "Youth Vote" in the battle between President Nixon and Sen. George McGovern D—S.D. But the definitive youth poll already has been done by CBS.

It crept unnoticed into "60 Minutes" earlier this month and gave us the political word from 10 and 11 year old pupils at the Border Star School in Kansas City, Kan.

The poll drew no conclusions. It just let the 30 or so young respondents have their say about the two candidates—politicians in general and assorted campaign issues.

They began with correspondent Morley Safer's question about the difference between Nixon and McGovern on the issues.

"The largest difference, I think, is that McGovern is a liberal and Nixon is conservative," one youth said. "And I'm totaliy against the war and my brother in four years will be able to be drafted.

"And Nixon said in '68 that if any man cannot get us out of a war in four years he deserves no more. And he himself has not done this."

"I think McGovern said that he could end the war in 90 days if he got elected president," another boy said "I don't think he can keep his promise."

"I just don't think that either one of them can really promise what they're promising," a third said. "They can't do it."

One girl had a peace plan and a question: "I don't see why the United States just can't surrender. Right then and there. Because—well, just make a peace treaty and tell them (the North Vietnamese) 'Why can't you guys just be friends?'"

On the vice presidential issue, one youth predicted that Spiro T. Agnew will "get a whole lot of votes because he's so popular they have watches made of him."

Missouri Foliage Putting On Best Show In Years

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Missouri's fall foliage is putting on one of the best color shows in years, the State Conservation Department reported today.

Estimated peak of the color in the central and northern parts of the state is from the weekend of Oct. 21, and about a week later in southern Missouri.

"Some species which turn early didn't this year," said John Wylie, assistant state forester. "Now they're turning along with the later foliage and the overall picture looks real good."

Whats The Law

The Case Of The Jail House Lawyer

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Roscoe was sent to prison to repent for a misdeed. No particularly enchanted by the accommodations and insisting that he was there on a bum rap, he immediately decided to seek his freedom by appealing his conviction to a higher court.

To assist him in this endeavor, Roscoe "retained" Legal Beagle Benny, a fellow prisoner, who was reputed to be a self-thought expert on the procedures to say nothing of the loopholes. When the authorities learned that "the Beagle" had been "retained," however, they ordered him to bow out of the case.

"You can't order him to do that," protested Roscoe. "I need him. The only thing I know about the law is how to break it. Without his help, I'm going to end up rotting in jail for a crime I didn't do."

"You don't need Benny's help," was the answer. "We've got experienced social workers who can help you prepare legal papers. What's more, we've got a whole library of law books you can look at. Obviously, if Benny was half as good as you think he is, he'd have been able to get himself out of jail by this time."

Nevertheless, Roscoe insisted that Benny be allowed to help him and took the matter to court. IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit Legal Beagle Benny to assist Roscoe in preapring his appeal?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that a prisoner has no right to the assistance of an unlicensed, selfstyled "jail house lawyer" in preparing legal papers to be used in an appeal.

Miss Heggie received an engraved silver tray and an arm bouquet of red roses. State Rep. Fred DeField presented a distinguished citizen certificate to her on behalf of Gov. Warren E. Hearnes.

The local Business and Professional Women's Club selected Mrs. Norber Rolwing as Honorary Woman of the Year. Miss Frances Daniel, president of the club, described Mrs. Rolwing as a dedicated Christian woman who goes about doing good. She also received a silver tray, red roses and a distinguished citizen certificate.

L. Goebel Patton of West Frankfort, Ill., was speaker for the evening. The topic of his address was, "Taller in the Morning," and he listed seven ways in which everyone could be "tall among this Fellowman."

"Put human dignity first, get rid of our double standard of values and, if we are going to stand tall, give credit where credit is due," he said.

"We must acquire the virtues of kindness and persuasion, be willing to accept change, maintain a good sense of humor and last, but not least, be able to forget," Patton said.

Toastmistress for the event was Mrs. Margaret Rone of Hayti, past Missouri BPW state president.

In keeping with the theme, Americanism, decorations of red, white and blue were used.

Mrs. Herbert Marshall, soloist, accompanied at the piano by Matt Bryant, presented an inspiring musical program of four songs, "Let There Be Peace on Earth," "Born Free", "American the Beautiful", and "This is My Country".

Invocation and benediction was offered by the Rev. Rodney DeGroot, minister of First Christian Church.

One thing to be said for food prices: They spoil your appetite and help cut-down on the grocery bill.

Hearnes Signs Emergency Appropriation Bill Today

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes signed today an emergency appropriation bill carrying $11.6 million as passed in a 23-day special session last month.

The bill includes $6.8 million in general revenue or state tax funds and $4.8 million in federal and other funds.

The governor asked originally for $23.5 million but many of the items were rejected on the grounds they could be reconsidered when the 1973 legislature meets in January.

The governor vetoed one section on the grounds it sought to legislate in an appropriation bill. He said "This section amounts to extraneous matter having no force and effect."

The section said the legislature intended the appropriations to be for a full nine-month period and directed state agencies to spend the money on that basis.

It directed them to submit a nine-month plan of estimated expenditures and said no expenditure for any one month could exceed the estimate by more than 15 per cent without prior approval of the legislative committee on fiscal affairs.

It was the same language the governor vetoed in appropriation bills passed in the regular session last spring. Since then sponsors of the directive said, the constitutional amendment adopted at the August primary gave the legislature power to have control on how the money should be spent.

The item regarded by the legislators as the biggest single emergency — funding the new public defender law — got $638,000 in state money with the expectation that another $480,000 would come from federal funds. sponsors said that would be enough to get the program started.

Since then the Appleate Judicial Commission has started taking applications from lawyers who want to be public defenders in counties over 75,000, plus Cole and Randolph where penal institutions exist, but excluding Greene County.

The bill includes $1.2 million intended to increase state aid to junior colleges from $320 to $400 a year per student, $178,000 to put mental patients in boarding homes and $40,000 to set up a new regional Center for the Developmentally Disabled in St. Louis.

Mays was given credit for 117 days served in the county jail.

Jerry Lee Whitney entered a voluntary plea of guilty to a charge of tampering with a motor vehicle and received a one-year sentence in the county jail. He was given credit for 131 days served.

Judgment of $8,593.65 was awarded Del Monte Corp. in a guaranty agreement suit brought against Ronald L. Crenshaw of Charleston.

FHA Director Sees RDA As Boon To Rural Areas

By RON PORTER

The Rural Development Act recently passed by Congress may help reverse the flow of people from rural areas to the cities.

This is the view and the hope of James V. Smith, national administrator of Farmer's Home Administration. Smith was in Sikeston Thursday en route to dedication ceremonies for the new waste disposal system in the Penermon community near Essex in Stoddard County.

Under the Rural Development Act, the FHA will be able to issue business loans to create more job opportunities in rural areas. The government will guarantee the loan.

Smith said his office is currently drawing up regulations on what type of loans to provide. The law, signed by President Richard Nixon on Aug. 30 is quite flexible, Smith said. This is because the kind of business loans needed in Maine are not the same kind needed in Southeast Missouri.

Other funds to be made available under the new law will include pollution control grants for farmers. It will allow them to bring their feedlots and other polluting areas into compliance with good environmental practices.

A new program that Smith said the FHA is beginning is a program of youth loans to minors whose parents are unable to help them pay for 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America projects. The program will teach the young people about credit and loans and hopefully establish them in rural areas.

Smith said people would like to live outside the cities if they could find good jobs. He said many industries would like to move, also. The FHA, he said, will try to put the two desires together and bring work back to the non-metropolitan areas.

Smith attended dedication of the new sewer system at Penermon and the District 3 rural water system in Eastern Butler County, and attended the opening of a senior citizens apartment project and community sewer system today in Birch Tree in Shannon County. All four projects were financed by loans from the FHA.

"Rural development is passing from the planning and promise state to the era of action," Smith said. "President Nixon's leadership and firm support have opened the way to match local initiative with development capital, which is now pouring into rural areas from centers of finance through insured loan channels of the Farmers Home Administration."

He said resources generated by his agency for rural housing, community improvement and family-farm agriculture have tripled since 1968, rising to a volume of more than $3 billion a year.

The FHA, Smith said, "is channeling more than $1 billion a year into the adequate financing of family farms, more than $2 billion a year into a great new enterprise of home improvement for rural families of modest means, and around $350 million a year into modernization of rural water, sewer and other community improvements."

Smith said "the biggest immediate business opportunity in rural county may be the wide-open chance to abolish bad housing and put families of lesser income into good, modern, well-equipped homes. Many towns are generating several million dollars worth of local trade activity by making the most of this opportunity in rural housing."

He added that the Bootheel counties of Stoddard, Butler, Dunklin, Mississippi, New Madrid, Pemiscot and Scott have more than 3,100 of the 20,000 homes in Missouri now under FHA financing, and 27 community water and sewer projects in the Bootheel have been developed with $4.5 million in FHA grants and loans.

Child Hurt; Ran Into Back Of Truck

CHARLESTON — Dwayne Williams, 10-year old son of Mrs. Nanna Mae Williams of 616 South Olive St., was injured at 8 a.m. Thursday when he ran into the back of a pickup truck driven by Lloyd Hayden, 61, of Charleston.

According to police, the Williams boy ran across South Main Street without looking and ran into the left side of the truck which was traveling north.

Hayden said he saw the youth, applied his brakes and came to a stop. Witnesses confirmed Hayden's report and no charges were filed.

The boy was taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston where he was treated for a bruised shoulder and released. He reportedly returned to school after treatment at the hospital.

CHILDREN AND TELEVISION

Poor television. Condemned for distorted reporting and labeled a sinister tool of some establishment or other, the industry is now besieged by parents concerned about the impact of the electronic babysitter on their offspring. Broadcasting Yearbook notes that most children watch TV at least two hours a day; mothers and fathers want to know whether the kiddies are being helped, hurt or exploited by so much boob-tube viewing.

The most publicized complaint about children's programming has centered on violence. Studies on the subject have been anything but conclusive. Some claimed that televised violence has a cathartic effect; others concluded that it incited antisocial behavior. The findings of the Surgeon General's Scientific Advisory Committee on Television and Social Behavior were cautious and qualified. Issued last Jan. 17, the report stated that while there was no evidence television violence "has an adverse effect on the majority of children," it "may lead to increased aggressive behavior in certain subgroups of children."

In the last few years, violence on children's programs has been reduced, but by no means eliminated, due largely to pressure from groups of concerned parents. One of these groups -- Action for Children's Television (ACT), a suburban Boston organization formed in 1968 -- will hold its third National Symposium on Children and Television at Yale University beginning Sunday, Oct. 15. The three-day conference, attended by broadcasters, businessmen, parents, teachers and child development authorities, will explore the planning, production and financing of quality children's programming.

One of ACT's major complaints concerns the amount of time devoted to advertising on commercial TV programs aimed at children. Although "the networks have phased out the superheroes of ultraviolence or at least profitably palmed them off for syndication on some independent station," Christopher S. Wren observed in Saturday Review -- Education (October 1972), "... program content usually amounts to little more than mucilage for the commercials, which grind out at upwards of 20 to the hour." Nevertheless, Wren sees some improvement in children's fare and credits both parental pressure and public television successes like Sesame Street for the occasional ray of sunshine.

POLITICAL SYRUP

Let someone suggest that expenditures for space exploration have been a good investment, and he is promptly shot down. However, the day of another story is coming. Dr. Wernher von Braun gives a late report in Parade magazine.

Back in 1969, thanks to satellite pictures, the U. S. National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration has estimated that the lives of 50,000 people were saved that would otherwise have been in the path of Hurricane Camille when it hit the Gulf Coast. Also, Dr. von Braun, who is associated administrator of NASA, advises that, "Today satellites carry about half the world's international telephone, telegraph and television load ... Or take computers. The demands of space flight pushed computer technology forward so fast that it is an $8- billion -a-year industry that employs more than 800,000 people. Thousands of new products and industrial processes have been introudced as the result of the space program."

The list of benefits from space exploration will continue to pour in -- notwithstanding the street corner skeptics who like the flavor of government projects best when they are covered with political syrup.

Basically, chains of various lengths drag on the ground and "float" paper, cans, bottles and other onto a paddle wheel of fabric- stiffened rubber that pitches the material into a storage bin. One man can operate the machine.

A LAST RESORT

During the past year or so rising costs have forced many electric companies to apply to regulatory commissions for rate increases. The tendency of those critics who rarely, if ever, have a kind word to say about a private electric company is to try to paint the increases as merely an attempt to increase profits.

The truth is that no company in the electric power field likes to ask for a rate increase. The record of many decades indicates this. Rates have steadily gone down, and even today, many companies have achieved near miracles in holding the line against inflation. An Iowa utility, for example, has applied for its first rate increase since 1953. For eighteen years, it has had a tradition of reducing electric rates, but rising costs have finally caught up with this company as they have with others. In announcing the propsoed step-up in rates, the company stated that, "During the period 1961 through 1967 ... (it) voluntarily reduced electric rates 13 times. With the increase, the average residential rate will be about the same as it was in 1953." Reversal of the downward trend in rates, explains this utility firm, has been brought about by the cost of environmental control equipment, rising labor costs, soaring taxes, high interest rates and the company's largest construction budget in history.

The action of the Iowa utility goes a long way toward answering those who oppose application of investor - owned power companies for rate increases. It shows that a request for a rate increase is the last resort for the average local power company.

NAMEING NAMES

In many news situations more will be printed than may have been customary in the recent past because the public is requiring greater incisiveness in what it reads and hears.

The self-cleaning efforts within the democratic system of freedom demand on informed public that is insisting on being better informed. Burdened with a multiplicity of laws beyond the capacity of police to enforce, the public is calling upon governmental agencies to make known the violators of regulations, orders, administrative rulings, on the theory that certain results can be achieved through the use of publicity.

New York City has begun to announce the names of restaurants and markets which violate the health codes. The New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets is naming those who fail to meet the state requirements as to marketing and meat inspection, milk sanitation and also is listing the establishments from which bad meat and food have been seized.

Sanitation requirements are drafted on behalf of consumers and the whole society. Many consumers and much of society determine their purchasing habits after learning who breaks the standards.

In periods of mistrust the truth has a way of getting out. This becomes the best guidance that citizens can possess, and they are increasingly insistent upon getting the names and places. The public is not powerless when it learns the truth. The same public today is relying upon their brand of power in asking the facts be printed so they can form their own opinions as to what is right and wrong and make their own decisions accordingly. — Huntington (W.Va.) A SINISTER THREAT

There are certain fundamental laws against fraud, misrepresentation and simple dishonesty. They have been on the books for a long time and have worked well. In addition, there are such organizations as the Better Business Bureaus that have done a yeoman's job of publicizing dishonesty and deception. But, above all is the automatic policing feature of the marketplace as customers give their patronage to the most dependable firms.

Despite these facts of life, there are those who constantly seek to improve upon the marketing mechanism by proposing laws which supposedly act as substitutes for the built-in wisdom of the free market. Many of these proposed laws fail utterly to distinguish between legitimate business and the blue sky operator. Typical of these proposals is a late measure introduced in Congress called the Truth in Trading Stamps Act. It is aimed at one of the oldest forms of business promotion, trading stamps--a form of promotion that U. S. Consumers have supported for many generations. A late survey shows that today 46.7 million American households save stamps--8 out of 10 families in the United States. These families, as well as the merchants, with whom they deal, have found trading stamps to be of mutual benefit. Otherwise, the stamps would have disappeared from the marketplace.

The public is already protected by laws prohibiting deceptive or fraudulent business practices. Trading stamps must keep their long-established reputation for being as good as gold for the redemption of goods as promised, or the public would quickly reject them. Just why trading stamps should be singled out for burdensome new federal regulation in view of such heavy public support is more than a little hard to explain. Redemption of trading stamps permits millions of people to acquire goods that they would not otherwise feel they could afford. Trading stamps are an important element of the promotion and advertising that underlies the free market system and, for that matter, freedom of the press itself. Without the support of promotion and advertising, there could be no independent press. The current phobia of excessive regulation is a far more sinister threat to our well-being thanthe alleged shortcomings of the marketplace.

A DEDICATED MAN PASSES

A giant- sized Texan who enriched our lives with his witty writings and conversations has passed. He was Wick Fowler, the Austin pundit who worked at various times as a newspaper reporter, editor, war correspondent and columnist. In his very active life, he also served an an investigator for the famous Dies committee in the 1930s when that Texas Congressman was rooting out subversives. Fowler designed and built sailboats, became a famous chili chef and served as Director of Public Information for the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Wick Fowler will be less remembered as a Texas highway patrol officer who rode a motorcycle but his job as an officer of the law left a lasting mark on him. Long after Wick retired from the motorcycle job and went on to fame in other fields, he remained true to the badge. He constantly preached against crime and the criminal and the latter years of his life he fretted that the lawman had lost the odds in his fight to protect the citizen. Wick lambasted the anarchists of the 1960s. He scorched them with his tongue and his pen. His words were as peppery as the chili he made.

There was another subject that turned him on; patriotism. As a war correspondnet he had covered the 36th Division's campaign in Italy in World War II and had gotten a purple heart for a wound he suffered. He could not be kept down, however, and got to the battleship Missouri to write the story of General Douglas MacArthur's accepting the surrender of the Japanese. Wick Fowler loved the flag and the badge and he loves life. The life he lives was varied and interesting. His death is a loss to Texas, indeed the nation. HLH

Inside Labor

Inside Democrats' Headquarters Larry O'Brien Says Reports Signal Heavy Labor Vote for McGovern Despite 'Neutrality'

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON— The "labor vote"-- call it blue collar or white-- is one of the crackling running stories of this weird campaign. This vote will make or break one or the other of the Presidential candidates. Both parties claim it.

Thus, now with less than a month to Election Day, I urged Larry O'Brien, National Campaign Chairman, McGovern for President, and Clark MacGregor, Campaign Director, Committee For the Re- election of the President, to canvass their precinct workers and cull their inside reports and predict in the name of their candidates where they belive the labor vote will go.

MacGregor's projections will follow in a few days the analysis and prediction reported here today by Larry O'Brien, speaking for Senator McGovern.

By Lawrence F. O'Brien

Nothing in my political experience or on the American political scene as I now perceive it convinces me that organized labor will be anywhere but in the Democratic column on Nov. 7.

I realize that it has become the accepted wisdom of this campaign that the working men and women of America are going to turn their backs on George McGovern and the party that has supported the labor movement at every crucial moment over the past four decades.

I simply refuse to accept that suggestion. Perhaps it is the fact that 42 international unions representing some 9 million workers have endorsed the McGovern— Shriver ticket. Perhaps it is our soundings in the key industrial states showing widespread union support not only for McGovern but for the principles and programs of the Democratic party.

But I am convinced that labor will be there when we need it.

Beginning my fourth Presidential campaign in an organizational capacity, I was naturally distressed when, at the onset, George Meany proclaimed the neutrality of the AFL— CIO. I continue to hope that as Election Day approaches President Meany will join us in one of the critical decisions of this century.

But I have been intrigued to note that the lack of the traditional pro forma endorsement has had some positive fallout. On their own, the 42 unions that already have endorsed McGovern have conducted an unprecedented grass roots campaign to deliver the vote into the Democratic column. In terms not only of numbers, but of publicity, their efforts have been one of the great plusses of this campaign.

Concededly, the public opinion polls show George Mcgovern to be trailing Mr. Nixon by a wide margin. McGovern's own polls show the margin to be somewhat slimmer than that indicated by Gallup and Harris. But for the sake of credibility, let me concentrate on the survey taken not by our own pollster, but by Mr. Nixon's.

Bob Teeter, polling for the Republicans, has been cautioning the White House that the Presidential contest will narrow dramatically in the closing days of the campaign.

Teeter also developed a scenario that can produce victory for McGovern: Republican lethargy, the return of Northern Democrats to the fold, and a variety of mistakes or unforeseen events in the remaining weeks of the campaign that would switch the undecided voters or the soft Nixon supporters into the Democratic columns.

Mr. Nixon, of course, recognizes these potential pitfalls. This is why he has chosen a campaign path that I fear bodes ill for our open political process: to remain in the White House or in carefully controlled public settings; to avoid the press at all costs; to avoid the people; and to let surrogate candidates (at government expense) roam the country in his stead.

The Nixon attitude toward the campaign was telegraphed nearly a year ago when his campaign committee was formed-- and failed even to mention the name of the candidate. "The Committee For the Reelection of the President," it was called.

In a nation already disillusioned about its political leaders, a nation with the worst voting turnout of any Western democracy, and a nation that expects to have the opportunity to measure its leaders fully, the "Hide Richard Nixon" campaign can only be viewed as distressing.

I predict that the closing two weeks of this Presidential campaign will provide one of the most exciting finishes of any campaign we have known. The polls currently in print are two to three weeks old and do not reflect the feelings of voters-- especially of Democrats-- as Election Day actually approaches and they begin seriously to consider the stakes. Especially heartening is a massive registration drive that already has added four million to the voting rolls, along with a continuing flow (averaging $130,0000 daily) of small contributions by direct mail which surpasses any such effort I have seen in two decades.

During the closing month of the campaign, Sen. McGovern is taking to the air waves to address the American people directly and in depth on the critical issues of this election and the vivid choice offered by the Democratic and Republican programs.

His public campaigning will focus more on the major electoral states, where organized labor will have a close- up view of the candidate and what he and his party stand for.

The elements for one of the most dramatic come- from-behind victories in our political history are clearly in place.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON— At a recent narcotics conference, President Nixon declared dramatically that keeping narcotics out of the country is "just as important as keeping armed enemy forces from landing in the United States." The President then announced sternly that he would cut off aid to countries whose leaders "protect the activities of those who contribute to our drug problem."

Predictably, these bold words drew election- year headlines for the President and warm approval from a public alarmed over the drug danger. Yet classified documents in our possession show that the President has refused to cut off aid, despite evidence that certain foreign leaders are protecting the drug smugglers.

The smuggling operations in Laos, for example, illustrate the difference between what Nixon says in public and what his intelligence documents show in secret. To prop up the Souvanna Phouma government, he has poured in more than $200 million in military aid annually. Yet his reports from the CIA and other agencies give him every reason to cut off this aid.

Says one document: "A broad spectrum of Lao society is involved in the narcotics business, including generals, princes, high- level bureaucrats and province governors."

The CIA specifically advised that Laotian generals are providing the transportation for drug smugglers. Incredible as it sounds, the planes and trucks used to carry the U.S.- bound narcotics are provided by the U.S. military programs which Nixon has sworn to cut off.

The secret documents make clear that the President is putting his military policies in Asia ahead of the drug invasion. "The difficulties of undertaking such drastic action (as aid cut- offs) cannot be overemphasized," declares another document on Laos, "since ... the risk of jeopardizing some part of the ...ry effort is high."

In Cambodia, President Nixon also continues to bolster an unstable dictatorship with $240 million worth of U.S. aid a year. Yet Cambodia is an important transshipment point for dope. An intelligence document explains why Nixon, however, has no intention in Cambodia of carrying out his threat to cut off aid:

"If US aid were withdrawn, the government's ability to withstand Communist aggression would be weakened to the point of collapse."

—SAIGON SMUGGLERS--

In South Vietnam, as well, the documents attest to "the corruption among government civilian, military and police officials, some of whom have been actively participating in the narcotics traffic themselves ...." But again, there is no real thought of cutting off aid.

The secret documents bluntly give the reason: "It is not in US interests to implement an aid cut- off, even to punish Viet- Nam for failure to control drugs...."

President Nixon's double talk on drugs is nowhere more apparent than in Thailand which gets over $100 million in U.S. aid a year.

"We believe that major punitive measures (such as) withdrawal of aid, denial of Most Favored Nation status, etc... would probably undermine our cooperative relations with Thailand and jeopardize ongoing security activities...," says a U.S. intelligence document.

The President's threats could also be carried out in Iran, which the CIA fears may soon become a major supplier for U.S. drug traffickers. But the CIA reports:

"The Shah has spoken out on only a few occasions... against addiction (and) rumors persist that some members of the royal family and parliament are narcotics users. Swiss authorities recently charged an Iranian Prince who accompanied the Shah to Switzerland with having transferred pure opium to Geneva."

Throughout Latin America, the same look- the- other- way policy prevails.

President Nixon, for instance, praised Paraguay for extraditing a notorious French narcotics smuggler, Auguste Ricord, to face trail in the United States. What Nixon neglected to mention was that Ricord was relinquished only after we wrote a series of columns about Paraguay's government- backed drug smuggling and after Democratic congressmen began talking of cutting off aid to Paraguay themselves.

If the President really wants to do something about Paraguay, he has CIA reports that two Paraguayan generals and the chief of its secret police are abetting the drug traffic. However, insiders say there is no real move to end the $12- million- a- year aid to Paraguay.

In Panama, which gets $18 million annually in aid, the President has intelligence reports saying: "One of the more glaring examples of official corruption is the country of Panama....General Omar Torrijos and President Lakas appear to be controlling factors in the narcotics traffic."

All over Latin America, the intelligence documents say, "the greatest detriment to effective enforcement is corruption. The corruption goes all the way to the top of some Latin American governments."

But in Latin America, too, President Nixon's vows to cut off aid to offending lands have been ignored. The documents say explicitly: "Coercive measures, such as reduction or termination of AID programs ... generally have proven to be ineffective."

Footnote: The stack of documents in our hands also tells similar tales of rampant drug activity with various kinds of government collusion or inaction in Afghanistan, Pakistan, Mexico, Lebanon, India, Peru, Bolivia, Hong Kong and Syria.

NEW YORK (AP) — Some people never seem to have any luck because other people seem to have all the luck.

There are, on the one hand, the losers, and on the other hand, the winners.

The losers usually have a hangdog air as they go through this world, the winners a topdog look.

There are other ways, of course, to tell them apart.

You can safely be reckoned a born winner if —

The church won't sell you any more lottery tickets, because you always win first prize. That's also why they only let you play bingo every other Wednesday night — so that on the nights you're not there someone else has a chance to win.

You hardly ever get a chance to call the White House because the White House is usually on the phone to you.

When you were growing up, your mother never, never called you "stupid."

Although he is now over 80 and no longer in the best of health, your father still gets to his feet and says "sir" when you enter the room. The old chap wouldn't hear of having it any other way.

In kindergarten, the only two pretty red-haired girls in the class fought each other in the cloakroom with their fists for the privilege of carrying your books home.

Later on in school, you were the kind of kid the teachers enjoyed bringing apples to.

And when you ate in the high school cafeteria, the waitress always put two more meatballs in your spaghetti than she did anyone else's.

When you go fishing, you have to strike out at the fish with a baseball bat to keep them from all leaping into your boat and surrendering en masse.

When you play golf with your boss, you let him win a hole now and then just so he'll have some inducement to go on living.

When your wife calls you "dum dum," she's only joking.

When you tell the laundry you don't want any starch in your shirts, your shirts come back without any starch in them.

Yes, sir, you're a born winner — and couldn't lose if you tried to.

Nixon Fund Raisers Ordered To Florida For Watergate Trial

Barker, is one of five men arrested in the break- in at Democratic headquarters in Washington. He is accused here of misuse of a notary public seal on a $25,000 campaign check from Kenneth Dahlberg, Republican finance chairman for the Midwest.

Dade County Criminal Court Judge Paul Baker signed an extradition order Thursday for Dahlberg, former Secretary of the Treasury Maurice Stans and Hugh W. Sloan to appear at the Oct. 26 trial in Miami.

Meanwhile, Barker's attorneys subpoenaed The Associated Press, United Press International, 33 radio stations and six television stations in the Miami areas to appear at a pretrial hearing today.

The reason for the subpoenaes was not clear at once, although there was speculation they involved a possible change of venue motion.

Judge Baker's order for the extradition of the three Republican figures said their appearance "could not be secured voluntarily."

Courts in Minnesota, Washington, D.C., and Virginia would have to rule on theextradition order if the three men refuse to appear.

Miss Co. Voters To Get Five Ballots

CHARLESTON--- Registered voters in Mississippi County will vote on five ballots in the Nov. 7 general election.

A 10 cent per $100 valuation tax levy for a sanitary landfill will be included. The Mississippi County Court decided Oct. 5 to ask voters for the 10- cent levy, which is expected to bring in approximately $43,000 per year for the operation of a landfill to serve Charleston and East Prairie. If approved by voters, the tax levy would be assessed in 1973.

Three trustees for Mississippi County Health Department are to be elected for four- year terms. Dr. Lowell Nicholas withdrew as a candidate Thursday, leaving only three, Dr. Wilbur L. Davis and Dr. Robert L. Robbins of Charleston and Mrs. Mary Miller of Wyatt, who have filed for the positions.

Other ballots will include the presidential, state and county candidates, two proposed constitutional amendments and one judicial ballot for or against State Supreme Court Justice John E. Bardgett.

Court Must Decide How To Prosecute

MARYVILLE, Mo. (AP) — The circuit court will have to decide whether a 15-year-old youth will be prosecuted as an adult on a charge of slaying four members of a farm family, says prosecutor Raymond Eckles.

A petition filed in Nodaway County Juvenile Court Thursday named the youth as the person who killed Marian Merrigan, 45; his wife, Kathleen, 41; a daughter, Helen Ann, 16, and a son, William Eugene, 15.

Judge Frank Connett, sitting as substitute juvenile court judge, set a hearing for Monday.

As a youth, the juvenile was not identified but was being held in the Nodaway County jail.

Sheriff John Middleton said he had not learned a motive for the slayings. The pajama-clad Merrigans apparently were shot late Tuesday night. Their bodies were found Wednesday evening by three girls who stopped to see why Helen missed school that day.

Batteries Removed

HOWARDVILLE — Four batteries and $30 was stolen Thursday night in a break-in at Johnnie Martin's service station.

Entrance was gained by breaking a back door glass.

Marjorie L. Hopgood, 304 North Washington in East Prairie, was arrested for careless and imprudent driving.

McGill Gets 35-Year Pin

Marshall McGill of Sikeston received a 35-year pin from the Missouri State Highway Department at the highway commission's 28th annual service awards luncheon at Ramada Inn in Jefferson City.

McGill's name was omitted from an article in Thursday's edition of The Daily Standard which named Southeast Missourians who received 25-year pins.

The jail time was suspended for one year on the condition that he is not found in any place which sells intoxicating beverages or 3.2 per cent beer for a period of six months.

Burglar Makes Self At Home

Lowrey, who had worked late, returned home at 9 p.m. to find his door open, the lights on, the television set turned on and blood on the floor in front of the television set. Blood was also found in other parts of the home.

Highway Patrolman Kenneth Ledbetter of Dexter said an empty whisky bottle was found near the television set, and the blood was apparently from a wound received when the burglar broke out the back door glass to gain entry.

$770 In Fines

EAST PRAIRIE — Only routine business was on the agenda of Thursday night's City Council meeting.

Police Judge J. Marvin Bryan reported that a total of $770 in fines were collected for the month. The council accepted the report.

Also approved was the collector's report showing a total of $18,475.14 collected.

Accounts payable in the amount of $2,929.84 was approved.

Man Kills Motorcycle Instead Of His Wife

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Creeping around outside his home with his .357 magnum pistol still smoking, Ralph Zelik bumped into two policemen.

He figured the best thing to do was confess.

"I just killed my motorcycle," Zelik, 34, admitted.

Nearby lay the cycle—with five slugs in it.

At a hearing Thursday on charges of firearms violations and intoxication, Zelik told the magistrate that the shooting followed an argument with his wife over the motorcycle.

Man Accused Of Molesting Daughter

KENNETT— A rural Malden man was arraigned Tuesday in Dunklin County Magistrate Court on a criminal charge of allegedly molesting his 12- year- old daughter on two separate occasions during the past month.

Kenneth S. Bibbs, 31, appeared on the charge before Magistrate Judge Leon McAnally. His case was continued to Oct. 13 to allow the defendant time to obtain legal counsel.

Prosecuting Attorney Charles H. Baker filed the charge against Bibbs Friday, alleging the defendant molested his daughter on Sept. 14 and Oct. 5, with the mother of the child as a witness.

Bean Truck Stolen

GIDEON — New Madrid County Sheriff Department reported a one and one-half ton dump truck loaded with 146 bushels of soil beans belonging to Dallas Darry was stolen Wednesday from the Christoher Elevator. The truck was recovered without the beans on Broadwater Road north of Malden.

Ann Landers

Food Stuffer Wants Mail Order Treatment

Dear Ann Landers: I read with interest the multiple complaints from the telephone operator. The more I read of her letter, the more irritated I became. Your answer was too gentle. I'm surprised you didn't land on Miss Dizzy Fingers with both hands and feet and tell her to get another job, one that doesn't require her to deal with the public.

I am an airline stewardess. We work Sundays, holidays, rain or shine, and there is no such thing as time- and- a- half for holidays. That telephone operator can go home to a Christmas dinner after she collects her time- and- a- half. Airline stewardesses go to a lonely hotel room. It's just like any other day in the week.

As for the telephone operator's other complaints, people are people. Some are nice and others are a pain in the neck. When HER "public" gets persnickety, profane, out- of- sorts or demanding she can plug them out after a few minutes and a polite sign- off. How would she like to cope with it for eight solid hours, 35,000 feet up?-- Up, Up and Can't Get Away

Dear Up: As one who has flown well over two million passenger miles I can attest to the fact you are a great group of girls. Seldom do I encounter a stewie who is not pleasant, courteous and perceptive enough not to sit herself next to me and unload her personal problem when I have 2,000 letters in my lap!

Dear Ann: I just finished eating ten chocolate cup cakes and am sick to my stomach. I have done this sort of thing for the last two years. Of course I am terribly overweight.

I am never hungry and I actually don't enjoy food. I just have this desire to sneak things into my room and stuff myself. Don't suggest that I see a doctor because I know he will tell me to stop it and I really don't want to. I get some sort of perverse pleasure out of this act, although I can't describe it.

If you can just tell me why I do it and give me some insight into what I am doing, maybe that will help. Please, Ann, I am counting on you. ---Dayton Pig

Dear D.: You're asking for mail- order psychiatric treatment and I can't provide it. I don't know why you stuff yourself with food you don't want and don't enjoy, although in many such situations a teen-ager is trying subconsciously to get even with somebody-- perhaps a parent. You need more help than I can give you and I urge you to get it. Start with your school counselor.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a boy, 18 years old, a high school senior, and my dad is driving me nuts.

He has read a lot about drugs and is scared to death I might be trying something. Every time I come home he looks in my eyes to see if the pupils are dilated. Then he goes through my pockets looking for grass. He gives me the third degree about where I've been and with whom. Last night I caught him sniffing around my room to see if anything smelled "funny."

I know he loves me but it's terrible to be under this kind of pressure. I have never given him any trouble. There is no reason for him to be so suspicious. Will you please tell me how to get him off my back?---Inquisition in Utah

Dear U.: Parents do their children a gross disservice by demonstrating such lack of faith. A child whose parents have a high opinion of him will bend over backwards to live up to it. And the same goes for a low opinion. Show this to your dad--- and I hope it helps.

A no- nonsense approach to how to deal with life's most difficult and most rewarding arrangement. Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage-- What To Expect," will prepare you for better or for worse. Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50c in coin and a long, stamped, self- addressed envelope.

Naturalists say that wolves have some good traits. They are monogamous, good parents and providers, loyal, brave, intelligent and inquisitive. By weeding the weak and unfit from wild animal herds, they upgrade the stock.

Sikeston Boy Scout Troops 41 and 44 and East Prairie Troop 37 attended the Okeechobee District troop meeting Sept. 16 at Big Oak Tree State Park near Dorena. Those receiving ribbons were, from left, front row, Darrell Murphy, troop 41; Jeff Emory, troop 37; Mike Shell, and Randy Dement troop 44; Russell Murphy, troop 41; and Mark Shell, troop 41; second row, Fred French, district scout executive, and Mike Euer, giant tribe meet chairman.

The $239.50 Cimatron Calculator

Our worthy competitors would like you to believe that a good printing calculator costs as much as $395.

But it doesn't anymore.

Because now Cimatron has come up with a precision four-function printing calculator (÷, ×, +, −) that costs only $239.50.

And if the competition looks worried, it's because the Cimatron Calculator sells for a full $60 to $130 less than any other calculator in its class. In fact, Cimatron gives you a full-function calculator that lists 10 digits and totals 11 for even less than you'd pay for one of those so-called "sophisticated" office adding machines.

SPEED. But if price alone isn't enough, just compare speed.

The competition's top printing capacity ranges from 2½ to 3 lines per second. Not nearly as fast as the incredibly efficient Cimatron, which solves and prints problems at speeds of 4½ to 5 lines per second, fastest in its class.

And because studies have shown that more than 70% of all work done on printing calculators is adding and subtracting, we've designed our keyboard to conform with conventional adding machine touch operation.

So a fast adding machine operator will be able to work even more efficiently with a Cimatron.

It gets the work you do the most done the fastest.

EXTRAS. The Cimatron Calculator offers more features than any other comparably priced machine.

Internal memory for storing figures in Grand Total. Automatic total key for continuous chain multiplication. Single, double, and triple cipher keys. Overflow safety lock.

Automatic double spacing between results. Razor sharp numerals, with negatives and credit balances printed in red.

And with ample spacing between the contoured, touch-coded keys, the Cimatron Calculator has been designed expressly for American-sized hands.

DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR, the Cimatron Calculator has more features than any other printing calculator in history.

No wonder our competitors are feeling the pressure.

A's End 41-Yr. Drought

By LARRY PALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP) — In 1931 Herbert Hoover was President, champagne was illegal, and Manager Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics were the American League baseball champions.

A lot has changed in the 41 years since but one thing is the same—the Athletics, now of Oakland, are again AL champions.

They will carry the pennant into Cincinnati where they'll face the National League champion Reds beginning Saturday in the World Series.

It took the maximum of five games, but the A's finally overcame the Detroit Tigers with a 2-1 victory Thursday to take the AL playoffs.

"The day I got traded (from the Chicago Cubs) Dick Williams called me at my house and said, 'We're going to put you in the World Series.' And damned if he didn't," said Oakland pitcher Ken Holtzman, smiling as he sat quietly in front of his clubhouse locker.

Most of his teammates were exploding champagne corks, splashing beer, hugging each other, and yelling with joy. Even millionaire owner Charlie Finley joined in, pouring champagne on dry heads and crying with happiness at the moment which seemed to be slipping away after Tiger victories Tuesday and Wednesday.

Holtzman is Manager Williams' choice to pitch the Series opener and the A's will have suspended shortstop Bert Campaneris back in action, although Reggie Jackson may be out with a pulled hamstring muscle suffered in a successful steal of home plate Thursday.

The A's won Thursday on the strong arms of John "Blue Moon" Odom and Vida Blue, plus some questionable Tiger fielding and the running of Jackson and his replacement, George Hendrick.

Winner Odom gave up an unearned run in the first inning as he pitcheda two-hitter for five frames before getting an upset stomach. Blue finished the job with a lightning fastball, allowing three harmless singles in picking up the save.

Campaneris, suspended by AL President Joe Cronin for the last three playoff games for throwing a bat at Detroit pitcher Lerrin LaGrow, joined in the Oakland post-game bedlam but wasn't saying much.

It was learned Thursday night that Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn will permit Campaneris to play in the Series.

Jackson opened the A's second with a walk off loser Woodie Fryman, stole second, and reached third on a long fly out by Sal Bando.

Mike Epstein was hit with a pitch and Gene Tenace struck out before Epstein broke for second on a steal, hoping Tiger catcher Bill Freehan would throw to second and give Jackson a chance to steal home. And that's what Freehan did, both runners sliding in safe.

Jackson was injured in the slide and replaced by Hendrick, who reached first leading off the fourth on a throwing error.

Left fielder Duke Sims was a little slow getting the ball out of his glove on the hit. It was a close play at the plate and Freehan let the throw slip away; however, Hendrick was ruled safe before that.

Jackson Visits Tiger Clubhouse

DETROIT (AP) — It was a memorable, dramatic ending to a memorable day.

Oakland center fielder Reggie Jackson made his way on crutches slowly and deliberately, down an echoing, virtually empty corridor at Tiger Stadium to the Tiger clubhouse.

Jackson pulled a hamstring muscle when he stole home in the second inning, sliding into burly catcher Bill Freehan in the A's 2-1 victory that clinched the American League pennant three games to two. He had to be helped off the field and was replaced by George Hendrick—who scored the winning run with another slide into Freehan.

Jackson hopped through the door into the carpeted room.

Only a few of the Tigers remained.

Al Kaline approached and shook Jackson's hand.

"I've been calling on the phone over there trying to get you and nobody answers," Kaline said. "How's your leg?"

"It's okay. I hope to be able to play in the Series," Jackson said.

Then Martin walked over from across the room to greet him.

"You're a heck of a guy," Jackson told Martin, shaking his hand. "Believe me, I don't like playing against you guys."

"You showed me a lot of class," Martin said in return. "I like guys like you."

Jackson shook the hands of Duke Sims and Aurelio Rodriguez, and said, "You guys have a great amount of pride and that's all I came over here to say."

Then he left, hobbling slowly.

Jackson said if chances are 50-50 he can play against Cincinnati in the Series, "I'll play. If I can hobble, I can play. I've got all winter to heal, so I can go all out."

Tourney Set At Mini- Dome

Sikeston High School will host its first invitational basketball tournament in its spacious field house facility this season, with seven teams expected to join the Bulldogs for an early December affair.

Professional games and regional basketball competition have been held at the local mini-dome, along with the regular Bulldog home matches, but, until now, the facility has been put to limited use.

Charleston, Poplar Bluff, Hayti, Gideon and Chaffee have accepted invitations for the Dec. 4-9 affair. An opening still remains.

Dogs Picked

Cape Girardeau Central, Kennett, Illmo-Scott City and Luxora, Ark., are unanimous favorites to post wins in Southeast Missouri high school football, according to The Daily Standard's panel of guessers. The Tigers and Rams go into tonight's battle unbeaten.

A slim nine-game schedule is on tap for the Bootheel area tonight with key league battles spicing the slate.

Poplar Bluff wasn't given a vote to unseat the powerful Central High Tigers at Cape Girardeau's Houck Stadium tonight. The Mules did, however, draw some notoriety by being picked to stay within 12 points of the undefeated Bengals ... 36-24.

Kennett is a solid choice to defeat Charleston in its Northern Division encounter ... 28-7 while I-SC was an overwhelming choice to shut out Doniphan, 45-0, and Luxora, Ark., is a 27-12 pick to down South Pemiscot.

Portageville is a 7-5 choice to defeat Cairo, Ill., with the swami going with the Bulldogs all the way.

Sikeston and Dexter deadlocked with five votes each after this week's panel of prognosticators --- Rovina Ralph, Steve Myers, Ron Hornback, Tony Ford, Danny Summerfield, Handsome? Forbis, John Greer, Bobby Gentry, Jerry Gentry and the Shadow -- voted. The swami cracked the tie with a deciding vote in favor of the Bulldogs ... But not by more than one point. The SHS offense must move to score tonight or the Dogs will find themselves on the losing end of a big score ... Dexter can cross the goal line, in evidence of its 91 points on the season, compared to the Bulldogs' 43, which rates 17th in the district.

Join us next week.

In the battle of the unwinnables — East Prairie against Caruthersville — the hosting Eagles are a 7-3 pick with one prognosticator going with a tie. I tagged the Tigers with the win.

Jackson is a 10-1 choice to defeat Chaffee, while Hayti is a 9-1 favorite over Malden, with the old swami going with JHS and a tie between the Green Wave and Indians.

Skins Favored

NEW YORK (AP) — Nobody's going unbeaten in the National Football League. Nobody ... including the Miami Dolphins. Sooner or later, somebody'll get 'em.

But, not this week.

San Diego's suddenly-super Chargers should bite the lint in the Orange Bowl as the Dolphins go 5-0 with the toughest part of their schedule behind them.

Elsewhere in the NFL, the hour of decision will come for at least two erstwhile powerhouses, the Minnesota Vikings and Baltimore Colts. Each is 1-3 and another defeat will just about kill playoff hopes.

Miami 24, San Diego 10: It looks like a ground war and Miami has a tank in Larry Csonka, a bazooka in Jim Kiick and a rocket in Mercury Morris that gives it the edge. Both defenses are underrated.

Oakland 30, Buffalo 14: The Raiders have their offense untracked and George Blanda shouldn't have to be summoned for heroics.

San Francisco 38, New York Giants 17: The Giants have beaten the NFL's two weakest teams, Philadelphia and New Orelans, but their defense can't hold John Brodie and pals.

Green Bay 17, Detroit 13: The Packers' Scott Hunter should have a good battle with Detroit's Greg Landry, but defense should still be the key in the well-matched Monday night TV special.

Atlanta 27, New Orleans 14: The Saints haven't won in four starts and are solid picks to make it five. The Falcons need only to continue improving their offense to be true division contenders.

Cleveland 24, Chicago 14: The Bears are 0-3-1 and seem headed for another winless weekend although running quarterback Bobby Douglass and powerful Cyril Pinder give Chicago at least a chance for an upset.

Kansas City 24, Cincinnati 17: This matchup of division leaders is perhaps the NFL's game of the week. The Bengal offense finally got rolling last week, but the Chiefs provide too tough a barrier.

Dallas 13, Baltimore 10: Neither team has been outstanding, but the Cowboys keep getting by. Colt luck has been sour and a sudden spree by John Unitas seems Baltimore's only hope for not sitting out the playoffs.

Pittsburgh 21, Houston 14: The Oilers aren't as bad as they looked last Monday night ... nobody is. But, they're not good enough to win just yet with quarterback Dan Pastorini.

Los Angeles 27, Philadelphia 10: The Eagles are well balanced, poor on both offense and defense.

Minnesota 20, Denver 7: Tarkenton wins one and keeps the Vikings alive for a fifth straight division title while the Purple Gang does reasonably well in hemming up Floyd Little and his playmates.

New York Jets 24, New England 17: This one is an air fight between Joe Namath and Jim Plunkett and the Broadway one usually gets the best of such things.

Washington 35, St. Louis 24: Sonny Jurgensen is back and Gary Cuozzo has pumped offensive life into the Cardinals, making this one of the better shows of the weekend.

Nolan To Open Series

CINCINNATI (AP) — Two years ago Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson boasted: "Bring on the big bad Birds, We'll beat 'em."

Anderson's first Cincinnati team had won the National League pennant in a threegame playoff sweep over Pittsburgh. He looked down his nose at the American League champion Baltimore Orioles.

The Orioles made Anderson choke on his words, beating the Reds in the Series four games to one. Anderson hasn't forgotten. He's not about to make the same mistake.

"I have to be honest," said Anderson Thursday as he watched the Oakland Athletics win the American League pennant over the Detroit Tigers, "after the beating we took in '70, I'll make no comment. I'm not going to give Dick (Oakland Manager Dick Williams) any ammunition."

Anderson added, "I never dreamed an American League club would beat us, but I've changed my thinking about the AL now. Dick's team plays good baseball."

"In 1970 I was naive," he said. "I had never been to a World Series. I was just so glad to be there. I came in awe. The whole season was that way. I remember the reaction in Cincinnati when I got the job. They said Sparky who?

"Everybody at the Series couldn't understand how I could be so nice after losing. Well, I was so glad to be there I didn't realize until I got home that we had lost four out of five."

Anderson watched the A's go ahead of the Tigers 2-1, then win by that score.

"Oakland has great balance," Anderson said. "They can run, have good pitching and a fine defense. And they've got some good bats in Reggie Jackson, Joe Rudi, Mike Epstein and Sal Bando."

The Cincinnati manager said Oakland posed a different problem from a pitching standpoint than Detroit would have presented.

"If the Tigers had won, we would have had to look at Lolich maybe three times," Anderson noted. "The A's have Jim Hunter, John Odom, Ken Holtzman, Vida Blue and a darn good bullpen."

Anderson said of his own team that the Reds' pitching was 50 per cent stronger than it was in 1970 against Baltimore.

Nolan finished with a 15-5 record in the regular season, but was almost unused the last two months because of a sore shoulder and neck.

"Nolan will be our openinggame pitcher," Anderson said, but the manager can't be sure of that until Nolan warms up before the game Saturday. Nolan worked six innings of the third National League playoff game. He left leading 2-1 when his arm stiffened.

CHURCH NOTES

Clergy Divided On Presidential Race

NEW YORK (AP) — While some church leaders have organized to support the presidential candidacy of Sen. George McGovern, others are advising against such partisanship and others have voiced their backing for President Nixon.

It's a mixed medley when it comes to recording the religious counterpoint to the current national election contest, but that element is keenly involved this time, even though both candidates are Protestants.

"Directly and indirectly, religious factors will play an extremely important role in the outcome," says the Rev. Dr. Gerald Strober, who has done special research on the subject.

For the first time in the annuals of modern presidential elections, some prominent churchmen have formed a cross-country interfaith network, called "Religious Leaders for McGovern," in behalf of the Democratic contender.

Although acting as individuals, and specifically not as spokesmen of their constituencies, they maintain that ending the Vietnam war is such a basic moral imperative that it justifies clergy in taking sides publicly in the campaign.

It's a new strategy, breaking with the long-time practice against clergymen organizing to back particular candidates. But its key planner, Methodist Bishop James Armstrong of Aberdeen, S.D., says there are "new reasons" for it.

"We're raining death on Vietnam today more than ever before," he says. "A nation is being reduced to rubble and it's our moral responsibility to do whatever we can to stop it."

On the other hand, Dr. Strober, coauthor of a new book issued by Association Press called "Religion and the New Majority," contends that the nation's new, predominant political force is symbolized by evangelist Billy Graham's friendship with Nixon.

"There's a close affinity between Nixon's and Graham's political and social philosophy and their vision of America," Dr. Strober says, adding that their view coincides with that of a growing preponderance of evangelical Christians.

He says that even though Graham avoids specific endorsements, his influence strengthens Nixon's position, both because of their close friendship and the compatibility of their views, which is shared by a decisive "new majority" of middle Americans.

Some clergy have backed Nixon more directly.

In Fort Worth, Tex., at a meeting of the National Baptist Convention, U.S.A., representing 6.3 million members and the country's largest black denomination, its president, the Rev. Dr. Joseph H. Jackson, came out for Nixon's re-election.

However, "boos" and shouted protests sounded in the meeting hall when he told 12,000 delegates: "McGovern says he'll get us out of Vietnam in 10 days. If he does more than Nixon in Vietnam, he'll carry a white flag."

Rabbi David Polish, president of the Central Conference of American Rabbis, urged Jewish institutions and their representative leaders not to take sides publicly in the contest. He said such partisanship could produce a schism detrimental both to the cause of Israel and of the American Jews.

The 35-year-old heir to the Norwegian throne has a 150-acre farm at his residence, "skaugum," 15 miles west of Oslo.

The crown prince was unable to attend the show because he took part in pre-Olympic yachting qualifications at Kiel, West Germany.

EXPLOITATION OF PERSONS: THE SEXUAL REVOLUTION

A cartoon in a nationally-circulated magazine showed a minister conducting a wedding. And the minister remarked ". . . and do you promise to love, honor, cherish each other even though the institution of matrimony may become obsolete?"

Today's lesson may be combined with World Order Sunday, a time for the church to pay special attention to the urgency of living together and solving our problems without recourse to war.

This lesson concerns our sexual revolution. Next week we will review the racial revolution. Our Christian faith demands our study of these problems today.

With the widespread availability of birth control pills and the liberalizing of abortion laws many changes have occured in our views on sex.

Such changes have caused the church to face up to pressures to support the traditionally-held standards of sexual behavior.

Many books and magazine articles have reported on a more frank approach to sex. Dr. David Reuben claims that it is nobody's business what an American adult does in the privacy of his or her home.

Debates continue over the "X" rated movies and some Broadway plays. Is the open portrayal of sex acts a sociological approach or is it a stimulating unrestrained and demoralizing incident?

The Bible reminds us that the body "is a temple of the Holy Spirit" and "You are not your own; you were bought with a price. So glorify God in your body."

Some persons may not agree with Paul, who wrote that it was sometimes better for people to marry if they could not control their passions.

If one is to believe the avalanche of sex-oriented material in print today, Paul's philosophy is not too often followed. Yet these articles have served one goal--they have brought the discussion of sex into the open.

Equal rights are recognized in Corinthians, where we read, "The husband should give to his wife her conjugal rights, and likewise the wife to her husband."

The Bible also stresses the fact that celibacy and marriage are gifts from God. Christian couples must discuss sex problems to avoid frustration, dissatisfaction, and temptation to divorce or adultry.

Dr. Reuben notes that sex is more than physical relationship. It includes "above all, love," The Christian's attitude toward sex is reflected in the word "consecration." which means a personal holiness that is pleasing to God.

The Christian must exercise self-control, avoiding any act that might disgrace his body. He must not have a guilt feeling in discussing sex, recognizing the positive benefits of sex used as God intended it to be.

Our young people have expanded their moral horizons. The majority are not immoral. But they do question institutions older generations accepted. They see so many divorces that they question the value of marriage.

With the world becoming over-crowded, students debate the value of Genesis where it reads, "Be fruitful, and multiply, and fill the earth and subdue it."

These young people today witness the problem of over-population. They seek a better world, open in its discussion of all major issues. And they see a need for more sexual education early in schools. Diocese No. 1 In SPF Support

SPRINGFIELD— As an afterthought to his keynote address at the Springfield segment of the Diocesan Education Institute, Bishop Edward O'Meara returned abruptly and unexpectedly to the microphone to state (with apologies for the belatedness of the announcement) that he wanted to go on record for congratualting the Diocese of Springfield— Cape Girardeau for being the No. 1 diocese in the United States in helping the Society for the Propagation of the Faith.

Bishop O'Meara, national director of the society, was in the diocese to speak at both the Cape Girardeau and the Springfield segments of the Diocesan Education Institute.

He made his announcement of the diocese's top position in SP PF aid with great enthusiasm and with apologies for not making the announcement earlier, at the Cape Girardeau presentation the weekend before.

The Bishop's announcement, and his manner of making it, was met with equally enthusiastic and friendly applause by his audience of 200— 300, consisting of priests and religious and lay teachers.

He remarked also that the diocese's record in this endeavor is more thoroughly remarkable in that it is, itself, still classifed as a "mission diocese."

Bishop O'Meara said that the diocese's position as top supporter of the society was made from calculations which took into account the size and Catholic population of the diocese.

In other words, he said, for its size and Catholic population, the Diocese of Springfield- Cape Girardeau heads the list as the U.S. diocese strongest in its aid to SPF.

The 1971 offering from the Church of Springfield-Cape Girardeau to the Propagation of the Faith was $43,053. The Peter's Pence Offering from the diocese for 1972 was $25,261.93.

While visiting in the diocese, Bishop O'Meara was joined by Bishop William W. Baum, the priests and the people in participating in the world- wide celebration of the 150th anniversary of the founding of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith.

The occasion was celebrated with concelebrated masses in both of the diocese's cathedrals— St. Mary's Cathedral in Cape Girardeau on Sept. 24 and St. Agnes Cathedral in Springfield on Oct. 1. Following each mass, the priests in the respective areas honored Bishop O'Meara with a dinner.

Modern Man Series Expanded

NEW YORK — "Wisdom for Modern Man," containing the books of Proverbs and Ecclesiastes, has been published by the American Bible Society in Today's English Version. The complete Bible in this common language translation is scheduled for publication in 1976.

"Good News for Modern Man," the New Testament in Today's English Version, first published in September 1966, currently is in its third edition and has a circulation figure in excess of 35 million.

Proverbs and Ecclesiastes are two Old Testament books in the Bible classified as "wisdom literature" because of their down- to- earth recognition of the practical, everyday concerns of man.

Like "Good News for Modern Man," this is a distinctly new translation that does not conform to traditional vocabulary and style. It seeks to express the meaning of the original Hebrew text in words and forms accepted as standard by people everywhere who employ English as a means of communication.

Two previously published Old Testament books in Today's English Version are "Psalms for Modern Man," originally printed in December 1970 and "Tried and True," Job for Modern Man, printed in August 1971. The former has a circulation figure in excess of three million, and the latter, in excess of one million.

"Wisdom for Modern Man" can be obtained from the American Bible Society, 1865 Broadway, New York, N. Y. 10023, for 10 cents per copy, plus five per cent handling charge (minimum 25 cents).

The American Bible Society is a nonprofit organization founded in 1816, whose aim is to translate, publish and distribute the Scriptures, without note or comment, to people everywhere in a language they can read or understand at a price they can afford.

Hush in Churches
Radical Conflict Is Fading Out

By REV. DAVID POLING

It came with a whoosh. The sudden change of radical conflict within the institutional church. For almost a decade the religious arena has been drenched with the fireworks and commotion of social change and social changers. Vietnam was an enduring conflict. Black/white relations always at the center. Urban heartache and upheaval not far from the discussion table. But now so many of these issues and topics have taken a shift toward the moderate tempo, a quieting down of conflict, a reduction in combat.

Personalities were the fuse for many issues. Consider Angela Davis. Many within the United Presbyterian Church have said that the grant of $10,000 toward her defense fund last summer probably cost the denomination $10 million in the long run. Some argued that she could not get a fair trial in Marin County. Others supported the cash for making the bond payment. A few felt that she would not live to stand trial—a mysterious death in a cell or something. Last fall, this column stepped out on the edge and said two things: To the anger of the whites, she was probably innocent. To the dismay of the blacks, she would get a fair trial. Both events have come true, not because we have a better crystal ball but a larger trust in people and the system called America.

Angela Davis is out free and lecturing. Her cause has split churches, canned clergymen and entertained a thousand campus bull-sessions. But, again, suddenly, it is over. We shall not see such a celebrity topic for the church for quite some time.

For our money, the true radical of this half-century died recently in Monterey, Calif., Saul Alinsky. A Jew, he had enormous influence upon the conscience and social awareness of the church. A former Communist, he did much to shape the world-view of Christians toward the masses in the urban culture and the forgotten masses picking spinach and lettuce.

Saul Alinsky gained large fame with his organization called FIGHT, which tackled Eastman Kodak in Rochester, N.Y. The giant film corporation had a dreadful employment record toward blacks and manicured Rochester shared in this civic and industrial put-down. Then social philosopher-activist Alinsky and the local council of churches joined forces and put the wood to the elders at City Hall and their friends who ran Kodak. It was a classic confrontation and the Alinsky people won.

Alinsky, being a true, noncorrupt radical, was his own man. At 60, he was not beyond telling the liberal establishment that they were fools to listen to reparation talk manufactured by people like James Forman and his "billing" the churches for past sins, like slavery in America. Sit-ins in denominational offices were absurd and Alinsky scolded those who meekly endured such theatrics performed by professional agitators. In recent days, Alinsky talked about organizing the forgotten man—middle America. Here were millions caught between the all-powerful unions and the welfare lobby. Alinsky looked fondly toward the needs of the white-collar commuter who suffered and often died at the hands of bureaucrats, transportation companies and housing tracts. Alinsky is gone and he will be missed. The church has few radicals to suit up for the last half of the 20th century.

The POWER of FAITH

THE BIBLE
52. The Last Plague

The Lord came to Moses and told him there would be one more plague on the Land of Egypt. The first born of all the Egyptians and their live stock, even Pharaoh's, would die. To spare the Israelites, the Lord said all of them should kill a lamb and take its blood and smear it on the two side posts and upper door posts of their houses. The night the first born would die, the Lord would pass over the houses with the blood on the door posts, thus sparing the first born of the Israelites. They were to have a feast of the lamb and it would be a memorial to the Lord's Passover.

The Lord commanded Moses that the Feast of the Passover should be kept for all times and celebrated each year. The night of the Passover occurred and there was great sadness throughout the land of Egypt. Pharaoh was stunned by the death of his own son. He realized he could no longer hold the Hebrews. He called Moses and Aaron and told them they could go and take all their possessions with them.

The Egyptians were so happy to see the children of Israel leave that they gave their jewels, clothes and things they would need for their journey.

Describes 'Fused' Bodies

McGovern Uses Anti-War Tape At University Rally

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — As hushed thousands listened, the voice of an anonymous young man describing the horrors of Vietnam poured from loudspeakers across the vast mall of the University of Minnesota.

"I don't think the American people really, really understand war and what's going on," the voice began.

"We went into villages after they dropped napalm, and the human beings were fused together. They were fused like pieces of metal that had been soldered," he said.

"Sometimes you couldn't tell if they were people or animals."

The voice stopped. There was silence.

Finally Sen. George McGovern said, "I guess there is nothing more to say after that except that this is a young man who has spoken the truth and now I think it's up to us to take the next step which is to change the kind of leadership that put the young man in the position out of which he's just come.

"So let's go out and do the job that we need to do and put a new leadership in charge of this country next year."

Some applauded, though most of the predominantly student crowd stood quietly. By newsmen's estimates, 10,000 were there Thursday night.

The voice was on a tape recording McGovern received earlier Thursday when he was interviewed by Jerry Williams of Boston radio station WBZ. Williams told him of the tape, made when the unknown young man phoned his talk show.

McGovern took it with him to Minneapolis, going to the rear of the plane and listening to it.

His eyes moistened, he turned away and looked out the window, then pulled out a handkerchief and dabbed at his face.

At the university, McGovern had finished his main speech, an attack on critics of his proposals to end the Vietnam war, when he was given a bracelet in behalf of a young Jew held in a Moscow jail. It prompted McGovern to return to his criticism of the war and to play the tape for the audience.

"This is a young GI back from Vietnam," the nominee said. He did not mention that the identity of the purported soldier was unknown and that there was no proof of the authenticity of the story.

The voice on the tape talked of devastation from U. S. bombs.

"You go into a village, not even the bugs- you can't find bugs - that's how fantastic and devastating it is. And what bothers me is when you're there you accept it.

"You rationalize it. You condone it.

"You say it's right 'cause they are the enemy and then when you come home you can't believe that you didn't have the courage to open your mouth against that kind of murder — that kind of devastation over people, over animals."

At times, the voice broke.

In Boston, Williams said of the tape, "As far as I am concerned it's legitimate."

Missouri On Nixon Agenda

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — A Republican campaign leader says he has been assured President Nixon will visit Missouri the last week of this month.

Warren Morgens, executive director of the Missouri Committee to R-Elect the President, said in a news conference Thursday he didn't know where the President will stop in the state.

Morgens said he couldn't confirm rumors that the President will take part in dedicating Kansas City's International Airport Oct. 21-23.

He said Nixon considers Missouri to be one of 14 critical swing states in next month's election.

Plan Would Make Lambert Biggest

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Globe-Democrat today disclosed particulars of a plan to expand Lambert airport to meet the needs of the metropolitan area through the turn of the century.

In a copyrighted story the Globe said the proposal calls for spending $370 million on Lambert Field modernizations, to make it capable of handling twice the capacity of Chicago O'Hare International. O'Hare is said to be the world's busiest commercial landing field.

The plan calls for work including construction of a new major runway, a new terminal, new parking facilities and an area for air cargo, the paper said.

The Missouri-St. Louis Airport Authority will outline the plan officially at today's Board of Aldermen session. The Authority is fighting citizens who say a second airport is needed—and it should be located near Columbia, Ill.

The Globe said the Lambert plan calls for first construction to begin by 1978 and to be completed by 1985. The paper said 200 families in suburban Hazelwood, Mo., will have to be relocated if the plan is approved.

The plan includes a statement by consulting engineers that the expanded Lambert could handle 60 million air passengers a year, the story said. Lambert now has a passenger capacity of 5.6 million. O'Hare serves 30 milliion passengers a year.

In a related development, Mayor A. J. Cervantes said he will ask the St. Louis Airport Commission to spend $25,000 on a feasibility study of the Lambert expansion plan. Cervantes has favored the Illinois airport proposal. But he says now he would like to have a more detailed look at the Lambert plan, to decide whether it will work. Cervantes and the Commission, which oversees city airports, will meet this morning before the aldermanic session.

Break- In Suspect Held In Mississippi County Jail

CHARLESTON — Les Achter, 37, of East Prairie is being held in Mississippi County jail for investigation of breaking and entering.

The break-in was reported to the sheriff's department about 4:45 p.m. Thursday by Knupp, who said a 16-gauge shotgun, .22 automatic rifle and a portable television were missing.

According to Deputy Sheriff Everett Holley, Achter was arrested at 7 p.m. Thursday at Mark's Restaurant on Highway 105 by Lt. Robert Smith of the Charleston police department.

Smith reportedly saw a gun in the back seat of Achter's car and was refused permission to search the car by Achter. Smith had the car towed to Ponder Chevrolet Co. in Charleston, where Achter consented to a search of his car after calling an attorney.

The 16-gauge shotgun was identified by Knupp.

Charges are expected to be filed today.

Kuehle Pans Distribution Of Missouri Blue Books

CLAYTON, Mo. (AP) — Secy. of State James Kiripatrick handles distribution of the state's "Blue Book" with the methods of operations of the "state Democrat political machine," Kirkpatrick's Republican opponent on Nov. 7, Harold "Wheels" Kuehle said Thursday.

Kuehle told a St. Louis County fund-raising party most of the 40,000 books printed biennially go to friends of legislators and other state politicians. "I submit that the taxpayers of Missouri have a right to know what has become of these thousands of extra Blue Books," he said.

Kuehle said the books are handled under a policy "in which the welfare of the machine comes first and the welfare of the people trails badly to the rear."

TOMORROW IS NATIONAL NEWSPAPERBOY DAY

Young Man Of The Hour

The young man who daily delivers your newspaper is an exceptional fellow. He provides you one of the friendliest and most dependable services you enjoy and in so doing brings the world to your doorsetp every day.

Like the proverbial postman, he makes his rounds in all kinds of weather. In a sense, a newspaper carrier is the "boy who finishes a man's job." Each newspaperboy is a vital link in a great team of men and machines gathering, printing and distributing local and worldwide events to the newspaper-reading public.

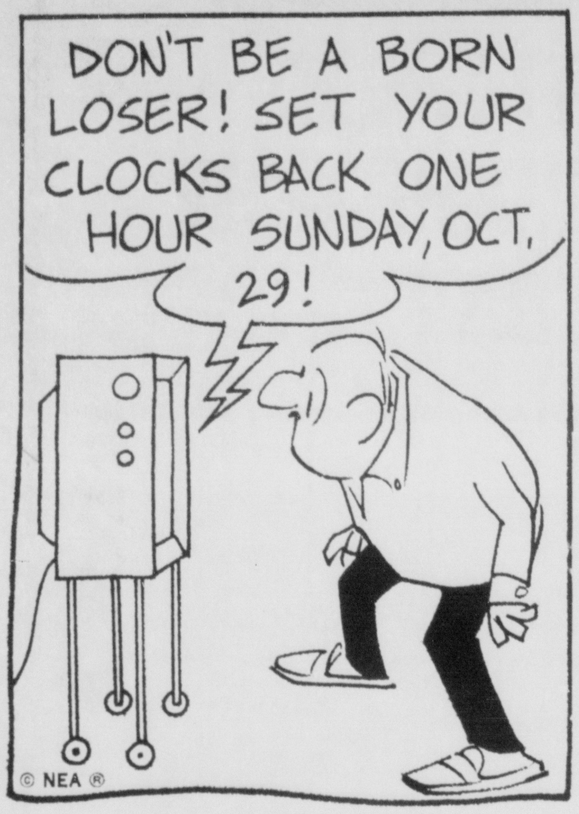

Publishers combine the skills of many different highly trained people to produce the kind of newspaper you want. And then they turn it over to these boys who today provide the finest delivery service in the world and who, in the process, are getting unique business training and character development that is preparing them to be leaders of tomorrow.

Newspaperboys learn at an early age the importance of dependability. They know what is involved in earning and handling money. They acquire traits of good character that contribute to their development as responsible future citizens. Basically, your newspaperboy is the grassroots symbol of free enterprise in action. He plans a vital role in the successful operation of the daily press and is deserving of commendation.

We are pleased, therefore, that the annual observance of Newspaper Week includes a day reserved for special recognition of newspaperboys and extend our congratulations and good wishes to the newspaper carriers of this community for a job capably performed day in and day out.

May National Newspaperboy Day serve as an occasion for a well-deserved tribute to these self-reliant young men. Truly, if the hope of tomorrow depends on the initiative and ambition of today's young people, your newspaperboy has a head start. He already is demonstrating his desire to succeed. —Martinez (Calif.) Gazette.

SPECIAL — Scholarships totaling $4,200 are offered six coeds majoring in home economics, the National 4-H Service Committee has announced.

The scholarships are available to present or former 4-H members who are entering their junior year with a major in home economics or clothing-textiles-merchandising.

The S&H Foundation, Inc., New York and The West Bend Company, West Bend, Wis., each provide two $800 scholarships. The Boye Needle Company, Chicago, Ill., is making available funds for two scholarships of $500 each.

This is the first year that the latter company has sponsored 4-H scholarship awards. Labelled 4-H knitting-crocheting scholarships, the awards are named for Florence Flannery Wollverton and Mary Elizabeth Hendry.

Special applications for the scholarships and deadline dates in submitting credentials are available from the state 4-H office or the county extension agent.

A committee of Cooperative Extension Service personnel will review the applications and select the scholarship winners on the basis of interest and desire to major in a field of home economics, financial need, scholastic record in college and all-around 4-H record.

Announcement of winners will be made during the 1972 National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov. 26-30.

The six grants are among 245 scholarships valued at nearly $172,000 offered through the National 4-H Service Committee during 1972.

ANNOUNCEMENT

LONG GROVE, ILLINOIS, October 10, 1972 — A definite agreement under which all outstanding shares of National Automobile and Casualty Insurance Co. of Los Angeles California, will be exchanged for 354,782 shares of Kemperco, Inc. common stock, was announced today jointly by John Q. McClure, Board Chairman of National Auto, and James S. Kemper, Jr., President of Kemperco.

The transaction, which is subject to approval by regulatory authorities, is valued at approximately $14,500,000.

National Auto has assets of more than $20 million including a wholly-owned subsidiary, Citizens Life and Casualty Company, which has assets exceeding $5 million and more than $300 million of life insurance in force.

National Auto transacts business in 19 states, writing most types of insurance. It operates under the independent agency system through about 800 insurance agents and had premiums in 1971 of over $14 million.

"Mr. McClure and his associates have an outstanding organization with a good record of growth and profit in both personal and commercial lines of insurance. We are delighted about this new relationship and look forward to continued fine results," said Mr. Kemper.

Kemperco, Inc. is a publicly held company with 11 subsidiaries which operate in such fields as insurance, reinsurance, mutual funds, consumer finance, banking, real estate and safety consulting.

Missouri Editor Interviews Premier Chou En-Lai In China

He told about Soviet leader Nikita S. Khrushchev once proposing a joint navy with China; about Mao Tse-tung once suggesting that Khrushchev lecture at Peking University; and he addeddetails about how "a little Ping-Pong ball changed the world."

Wearing a black Mao jacket with a "serve the people" red badge, the No. 2 man in China's government said Khrushchev made his proposal for a joint Soviet-Chinese navy in 1958.

Chou said Chairman Mao answered: "There are two possibilities. You come and take over and we will get out; or don't come at all."

Khrushchev then said that all he was proposing was a joint fleet. And why would Mao say he would go?

"Mao answered that when you ask for a joint fleet you seek to control our navy so we will go back to the mountains and fight guerrilla warfare again," Chou said. "Khruschev withdrew his offer."

Chou also smilingly reported that in 1965, after Khrushchev had been deposed, Premier Alexei N.Kosygin stopped in Peking to visit with Mao on his way home from Hanoi.

"Chairman Mao asked about Khrushchev, saying, 'Since you don't want him, suppose we invite him to lecture at Peking University.' "

"After all," Chou continued, "the Russians had claimed Khrushchev was outstanding in championing Marxism. Chairman Mao suggested that if Khrushchev came to Peking University, the Chinese could then learn what he had really done in Marxism and why the Russians had disposed of him."

Chou said the trail- blazing visit to China by the U.S. table tennis team in April 1972 developed in this way:

The Chinese Foreign Ministry decided the requests should not be approved.

"I myself approved this decision and submitted it to Chairman Mao," the premier continued, but Chairman Mao did not agree.

He noted that a majority of the team wanted to come and that the time was ripe. "So on the last day of the Ping Pong tournament then being played in japan," Chou said, "we telephoned inviting the American team. Your State Department could do nothing. Your President had said that contacts should be opened up.

"While we all knew the times was ripe, only Chairman Mao recognized that a little Ping Pong ball could change the world."

PEKING—Chou Bjt, take two: world.

Chou was asked about the possibility of American correspondents being assigned to cover China and Chinese correspondents to cover the United States other than the United Nations.

"Both sides want more contacts," he replied, but there is "a difficult part." He noted that at present there are still correspondents of the Nationalist Chinese news agency in the United States.

"If they would be admitted as correspondents from Taiwan that would not matter," he said, but as correspondents from another country a second China—that was "the difficult part."

He added that the first step is more frequent contacts and suggested that next year the American Society of Newspaper Editors come for another visit. "Maybe next time the group can be larger," he said.

Chou was also asked about visits by Chinese journalists to America. He laughed and said the decision "is not up to me," then added that their visit might be possible next year.

The 74-year-old premier is famous for his long working hours. For example, his interview with the American editors started at 10:32 p.m. and ended three hours and forty minutes later. Tea and cakes were served as the premier deftly handled questions. He appeared as fresh at 2:12 a.m., when the interview ended, as when it started.

He was asked about a report that he was studying English and did it mean that he was going to the United States.

"It is not me," Chou replied, "Chairman Mao is studying English.

"As for me, I studied English in middle school. That is the basis for my English. My teacher was an American. He insisted that I reply to questions in English and I couldn't."

Chou said later he went to France where he "only read English newspapers so I didn't learn French well."

Then still later, he was exposed to English through the American newspaperman Edgar Snow and during World War II through other Americans.

CBS TV Previews Youth Vote Poll

NEW YORK (AP) — Political polls these days are falling upon us faster than autumn leaves. And you'll hear about them nearly every day on television right until the presidential race ends Nov. 7.

Many samplings concern the effect of the so called "Youth Vote" in the battle between President Nixon and Sen. George McGovern D—S.D. But the definitive youth poll already has been done by CBS.

It crept unnoticed into "60 Minutes" earlier this month and gave us the political word from 10 and 11 year old pupils at the Border Star School in Kansas City, Kan.

The poll drew no conclusions. It just let the 30 or so young respondents have their say about the two candidates—politicians in general and assorted campaign issues.

They began with correspondent Morley Safer's question about the difference between Nixon and McGovern on the issues.

"The largest difference, I think, is that McGovern is a liberal and Nixon is conservative," one youth said. "And I'm totaliy against the war and my brother in four years will be able to be drafted.

"And Nixon said in '68 that if any man cannot get us out of a war in four years he deserves no more. And he himself has not done this."

"I think McGovern said that he could end the war in 90 days if he got elected president," another boy said "I don't think he can keep his promise."

"I just don't think that either one of them can really promise what they're promising," a third said. "They can't do it."

One girl had a peace plan and a question: "I don't see why the United States just can't surrender. Right then and there. Because—well, just make a peace treaty and tell them (the North Vietnamese) 'Why can't you guys just be friends?'"

On the vice presidential issue, one youth predicted that Spiro T. Agnew will "get a whole lot of votes because he's so popular they have watches made of him."

Missouri Foliage Putting On Best Show In Years

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Missouri's fall foliage is putting on one of the best color shows in years, the State Conservation Department reported today.

Estimated peak of the color in the central and northern parts of the state is from the weekend of Oct. 21, and about a week later in southern Missouri.

"Some species which turn early didn't this year," said John Wylie, assistant state forester. "Now they're turning along with the later foliage and the overall picture looks real good."

Whats The Law

The Case Of The Jail House Lawyer

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Roscoe was sent to prison to repent for a misdeed. No particularly enchanted by the accommodations and insisting that he was there on a bum rap, he immediately decided to seek his freedom by appealing his conviction to a higher court.

To assist him in this endeavor, Roscoe "retained" Legal Beagle Benny, a fellow prisoner, who was reputed to be a self-thought expert on the procedures to say nothing of the loopholes. When the authorities learned that "the Beagle" had been "retained," however, they ordered him to bow out of the case.

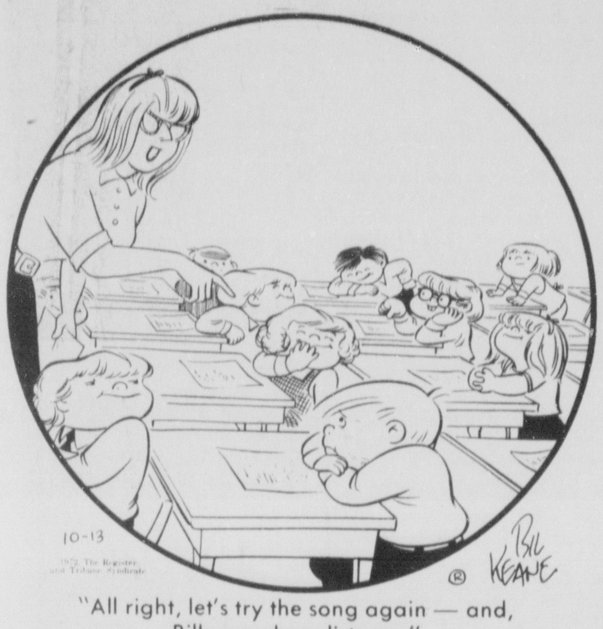

"You can't order him to do that," protested Roscoe. "I need him. The only thing I know about the law is how to break it. Without his help, I'm going to end up rotting in jail for a crime I didn't do."

"You don't need Benny's help," was the answer. "We've got experienced social workers who can help you prepare legal papers. What's more, we've got a whole library of law books you can look at. Obviously, if Benny was half as good as you think he is, he'd have been able to get himself out of jail by this time."

Nevertheless, Roscoe insisted that Benny be allowed to help him and took the matter to court. IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit Legal Beagle Benny to assist Roscoe in preapring his appeal?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that a prisoner has no right to the assistance of an unlicensed, selfstyled "jail house lawyer" in preparing legal papers to be used in an appeal.

Festival a success.

Miss Heggie received an engraved silver tray and an arm bouquet of red roses. State Rep. Fred DeField presented a distinguished citizen certificate to her on behalf of Gov. Warren E. Hearnes.

The local Business and Professional Women's Club selected Mrs. Norber Rolwing as Honorary Woman of the Year. Miss Frances Daniel, president of the club, described Mrs. Rolwing as a dedicated Christian woman who goes about doing good. She also received a silver tray, red roses and a distinguished citizen certificate.

L. Goebel Patton of West Frankfort, Ill., was speaker for the evening. The topic of his address was, "Taller in the Morning," and he listed seven ways in which everyone could be "tall among this Fellowman."

"Put human dignity first, get rid of our double standard of values and, if we are going to stand tall, give credit where credit is due," he said.

"We must acquire the virtues of kindness and persuasion, be willing to accept change, maintain a good sense of humor and last, but not least, be able to forget," Patton said.

Toastmistress for the event was Mrs. Margaret Rone of Hayti, past Missouri BPW state president.

In keeping with the theme, Americanism, decorations of red, white and blue were used.

Mrs. Herbert Marshall, soloist, accompanied at the piano by Matt Bryant, presented an inspiring musical program of four songs, "Let There Be Peace on Earth," "Born Free", "American the Beautiful", and "This is My Country".

Invocation and benediction was offered by the Rev. Rodney DeGroot, minister of First Christian Church.

One thing to be said for food prices: They spoil your appetite and help cut-down on the grocery bill.
